GERMANS INCHING TOWARD MOSCOW

SHIP ARMING HEARINGS ARE KEPT SECRET

NEUTRALITY REPEAL DEMANDED BY 3 GOP SENATORS

BY JJACK BELL

Washington, Oct. 20, (AP)—A half dozen senators—three Democrats and three Republicans—laid the issue of complete repeal of the neutrality act before the senate today as the foreign relations committee brushed aside minority protests of "gag rule" to order brief, closed hearings on the house-approved armed ship bill.

Hardly had the committee voted 12 to 9 to begin tomorrow morning to take testimony from Secretary of State Hull behind closed doors, then Senator Bridges (R-NH), Gurney (R-SD) and Austin (R-Vt) introduced in the senate a resolution to repeal the entire act.

Confer With Willkie

This trio reportedly acted after a conference with Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, who has urged his party to take the leadership in attempts to wipe out the neutrality legislation.

Not to be outdone, Senators Pepper (D-Fla), Lee (D-Okla) and Green (D-RI) later in the day offered a repealer which would leave intact only the law's provisions giving the president control over munitions exports from this country.

(The two major features of the neutrality act as it stands are (1) A clause prohibiting arming merchant ships and (2) A provision preventing such ships going into combat zones and certain belligerent ports. The armed ship bill would nullify the first prohibition while the neutrality act repealers would, of course, wipe out both restrictions.)

Wind Up Friday

The two repeal bills were immediately referred to the foreign relations committee-concerned officially as yet with only the house-approved measure for arming ships.

With administration forces firmly in the saddle, the committee overrode minority demands for extensive, public hearings on the ship arming question, voting to wind up all testimony not later than 5 p. m. Friday.

The 12 to 9 count by which this result was accomplished was regarded in many quarters as indicative of the committee's sentiment on the pending bill and Senator Lee told reporters he believed the more controversial proposal for virtual repeal of the act could be pushed through by a margin of at least one vote.

As announced by Chairman Connally (D-Tex), the division showed 12 Democrats favoring closed hearings with 6 Republicans, Democrats and a Progressive opposing the move.

Vandenberg With Opposition

Republicans opposing the motion included Vandenberg of Michigan.

Obviously angered at the committee's action, minority members stormed out of the meeting asserting a "gag rule" had been established.

Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) complained opponents of the legislation were not going to be permitted to call as many witnesses as they felt they needed and Clark (R-Mo) announced he had served notice he would not be bound by any rules of secrecy as to what went on subsequently behind closed doors.

Senator Danaher (R-Conn), not

PANAMA TO PUT GUNS ON BOATS

"Unjustified" Attacks By Hitler Raiders Speed Decision

Panama, Panama, Oct. 20, (AP)—The new pro-American government of Panama officially approved arming merchant ships of Panama registry today as the answer to "unjustified" attacks by German sea raiders.

The government of President Ricardo Adolfo de La Guardia thus reversed the last decree signed by Dr. Arnulfo Arias before he flew to Cuba and was overthrown two weeks ago. Arias, who has Nazi leanings, has been in jail since his return to Panama last week.

The government's new decision was set forth in a resolution which described the Arias' government's action as "from all points of view inconvenient considering that recently there have been occurring sinkings of Panama-flagged vessels by naval forces of the German government."

"Those attacks on vessels flying our flag," it continued, "have no justification whatever and have constituted flagrant violation of our rights as a nation and of principles consecrated by the law of nations.

"Though the republic of Panama has no naval forces permitting it to afford adequate protection to Panamanian ships, it must nevertheless interest itself that these vessels shall have at least facilities for exercising their right of self-defense."

Today's decision affects a number of United States-owned ships operating under Panamanian registry because of the North American neutrality law banning U. S. flag ships in belligerent waters.

Fine Show Horses Destroyed In Fire At Fort Worth, Tex.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 20, (AP)—Twenty four horses—including some of the top show animals of the country—were believed destroyed tonight in a spectacular $100,000 blaze which swept through the Beasley stables.

Workmen and the owner, A. J. B. (Doc) Beasley led nine animals to safety. The fire originated in a loft loaded with 2,500 bales of hay.

Included among the victims were Miss Dorothy Lee's Bronze Flash and Lotta Silver; J. M. North Jr's Marguerite Livingston and Royal Fascination; and Argentina, Hazalene Dare and Orey Success, owned by Mrs. Harold C. Morton of Los Angeles. Argentina formerly belonged to Mrs. Frances Dodge's stables.

American Embassy Now At Kuibyshev

Kuibyshev, Russia, Oct. 20. (AP)—The American embassy to Russia was established tonight in this city on the Volga River 550 miles east of Moscow.

A group of American correspondents, who left Moscow last week with U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt, also reached here.

200 PLANES SHOT DOWN

London, Tuesday, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that in the last few days Leningrad's anti-aircraft defenses had shot down about 200 German planes.

Week End Traffic Accidents Kill 4 Escanaba Citizens

The toll of lives of automobile traffic accidents in Delta county since the first of this year mounted to 13 yesterday and Sunday as three more Escanaba men were killed in week-end smash-ups. A fourth man was killed here Saturday night.

The victims:

Walter J. Taylor, 26, 816 South 15th street.

Harold E. Brick, 34, 314 South 16th street.

Ludwig N. Nelson, 55, 1026 Stephenson avenue.

John Seidl, 912 3rd avenue south, local barber, died of injuries received in a collision Saturday night as he was being taken to St. Francis hospital.

Driver Held

Walter Taylor was killed almost instantly and his companion, Harold Brick, died less than twelve hours later in St. Francis hospital of injuries received when the car in which they were riding collided head-on with a machine driven by Willie Courier, 31, of 1516 Washington avenue, on Highway U. S. 2 and 41 near the old airport just north of the city about 5:10 Sunday morning.

Courier was arrested by city police and charged with negligent homicide. He pleaded not guilty to the charge yesterday and demanded a preliminary examination which was set by Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette for Thursday morning, October 23, at 10 o'clock. He was released on $4,000 bond.

Were Going Hunting

Taylor and Brick were driving north on the highway on their way out of the city to hunt. Courier was proceeding south. He was not injured.

In statements to police officers several Escanabans, who arrived at the scene of the accident a few minutes after it occurred, said that Courier was intoxicated.

No Inquest

Brick received a compound fracture of the pelvis, deep lacerations in the femoral and inguinal regions, a ruptured bladder and dislocated femur.

Prosecuting Attorney Clyde McGonagle said there would be no coroner's inquest.

Train, Truck Collide

Ludwig N. Nelson, 55 year old Escanaba fireman, was fatally injured in a collision between a truck driven by Harold Spalding,

ATTACK RUMOR HEARD IN ITALY

Fascists Ridicule Story About Being Victim of German Plot

Rome, Oct. 20 (AP)—Fascists declared today the idea of a German attack on Italy was ridiculous and said the hint of such by Breckinridge Long, United States assistant secretary of state, was nothing but propaganda.

They said Long's Sunday broadcast asserting Germany was asking for 1,000,000 Italian troops perhaps to make a German attack on Italy easier failed to comprehend "the bond of alliance and ideals between the two nations." The broadcast was beamed toward Italy.

One spokesman said it was the "usual song and dance about Italy being in the hands of the Germans," and that in addition it sought to give the impression the Germans are runing short of manpower and that the Italians, although "no good for fighting," could be used for occupying territory.

Virginio Gayda, authoritative journalist, wanted to know why the British did not send a landing party if they believed the "fable of a million Italian men destined for Russia, France and Yugoslavia" and of Italy "preparing to empty herself of fighting men."

Recent Italian accounts said Italian troops were being sent to fight in Russia, occupy territory behind German lines, and that other forces were keeping order in Croatia, Montenegro and Greece.

At the time it was said more Italians had answered the call to arms and that Hitler had been promised many more troops.

Military experts said, however, that because of Italy's limited supplies it would be up to Germany to equip the men for cold winter campaigning.

Governor Orders Cuts In Payrolls

Lansing, Oct. 20, (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner said today he would send a letter to state departmental heads shortly to re-emphasize his demand that the number of persons on state payrolls be reduced 10 per cent.

Last week, he expressed impatience with the fact a previous request had produced no results, while the payroll had risen to a record high point.

ALABAMA COAL MINERS STRIKE

Railroad Unions Refuse to Arbitrate, Reserve Right to Walk Out

(By The Associated Press)

About four thousand Alabama coal miners walked out yesterday, others talked of joining them, and the railroad operating unions refused to arbitrate a wage dispute.

Miners at the Eayerton mine of the Republic Steel corporation initiated the work stoppage in the Alabama coal pitts which supply fuel for important steel and iron plants. Workers in five other mines joined them.

Sources close to the United Mine Workers (CIO) predicted 23,000 miners would be out soon unless a contract was reached with mine operators. Negotiations for a contract have been under way for six months, and the dispute now is before the defense mediation board which is expected to make recommendations this week.

President Roosevelt's special fact-finding board proposed arbitration of the railroad wage dispute. Arbitration means the disputing parties agree in advance to accept whatever recommendations the arbitrator may make.

The railroads agreed, but the five big operating unions, with 360,000 members, declined. Thus the unions reserved their right to strike if dissatisfied with the recommendations of the president's board, to be made after its fact-finding investigation. Non-operating unions are to advise the board today of their attitude toward arbitration of demands made by their 900,000 members.

Hot Acid Spatters Columbia Students

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Nine students and two instructors were splattered with hot sulphuric acid today in an explosion during a chemistry experiment at Columbia University's Havemeyere Hall laboratory.

Three of the eleven suffered serious burns. The others were treated at the college infirmary and released.

Most seriously injured was Clarence Hiskey, 29, the instructor who was holding the beaker of acid when it exploded.

Columbia officials said the blast occurred during a sulphur dioxide experiment. As the beaker blew up in Hisky's hands, he shouted: "Class dismissed, call a doctor!"

Wage-Hour Fleming May Be New Chief Of Federal Works

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Informed legislators reported today Brig. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator, is slated for appointment soon as federal works administrator, succeeding John M. Carmody.

The latter, these sources said, is to be made a member of the maritime commission.

Legislation has been prepared and tentatively approved by the senate appropriations sub-committee to make possible holding of the FWA job by Fleming, members disclosed.

ACTION TO BE U.S.A. ANSWER FOR U-BOATS

CASUALTIES ABOARD KEARNY REVEALED AT 21 MEN

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—The United States' answer to the torpedoing of the destroyer Kearny off Iceland with the loss of eleven men will consist of actions rather than words, Secretary Hull indicated at a press conference today.

The secretary of state ruled out any diplomatic protest, remarking that one does not often send diplomatic notes to an international highwayman.

Meantime, at the capitol, demands were voiced for a complete report on the clash last Friday between the Kearny and a submarine which the navy said was "undoubtedly German."

More Information Wanted

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said he would ask that the senate naval committee demand details from the navy department, and Senator Nye (R-N. D.) said he considered it essential that congress be given full information about the attack.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the naval committee agreed congress and the people should have additional information. He announced that the navy had advised him it expected to receive full details by mail within two days, and he said he would request a complete report for his committee.

Thus far the navy has issued two brief announcements on the incident. The first, last Friday, said word had been received that the Kearny, new, 1,630-ton destroyer, had been torpedoed about 350 miles southwest of Iceland while on patrol duty, but was able to proceed under its own power. No casualties were indicated, the announcement added.

Casualties Total 21

Then, last night, a second announcement said the Kearny had reached a port, not identified, and reported 10 of its crew were injured and 11 "missing."

Officially, the navy continued today to list those 11 as "missing" but men in the service regarded it as a foregone conclusion that they were dead—blown from the vessel by the explosion of the torpedo or trapped and drowned in watertight compartments which were closed automatically to pre-

More Russian Gold Purchased By U. S. For War Materials

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today the treasury has brought $30,000,000 more of Russian gold to provide the Soviets with cash to buy war materials in this country.

He disclosed the purchase at a press conference at which he revealed the Russians had completed deliveries of $10,000,000 of gold bought about two months ago in a similar transaction.

In both cases the treasury paid cash immediately and the Russians promised to deliver the gold within a certain time. Morgenthau said the first $10,000,000 of gold was promised in 90 days and a shipment arriving in San Francisco this week - end completed the delivery in about 65 days.

The Russians promised to delivered the $30,000,000 additional gold within 180 days.

SPEED WANTED IN RUSSIAN AID

Harriman Has Confidence In Situation, He Tells Roosevelt

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP)—Orders for "speed and more speed" in supplying Russia with arms to resist Nazi military might appeared likely tonight after W. Averell Harriman told President Roosevelt he had "great confidence" in the Russian situation.

Harriman dropped a hint that some public pronouncement on stepping up aid to the Red forces might be expected in Wachington tomorrow, from the president, himself, or both.

For three hours Harriman conferred today with the chief executive and with Harry L. Hopkins, who directs the lease-lend program for Mr. Roosevelt. He gave his first personal report to the president since he returned Saturday from Europe, where he led an American mission to Moscow to consult with British and Russian delegations on Soviet armament needs.

Immediately after the parley he left for Washington by plane to confer with state, war and navy department chieftains tonight and the president again tomorrow.

As the navy transport warmed up Harriman told reporters at the New Hackensack, N. Y., airport:

"I reported I had great confidence in the situation. He (Mr. Roosevelt) is going to see me again tomorrow, and I might have something to say in Washington tomorrow.

Large Contingent Of Canadian Airmen Sails For England

A British Port, Oct. 20 (AP)—One of the biggest contingents of Canadian-trained airmen yet to cross the Atlantic arrived in England today along with thousands of other troops aboard a flotilla of transports.

The reinforcements for the British empire's rapidly expanding air force were accompanied by the first group of volunteers from the United States and Canada for the Polish air force in Britain.

Tough Priorities Order Curbs Home Copper Use

Washington, Oct. 20, (AP)—In what one official called the "toughest" piorities order yet issued, the government today forbade the use of copper in non-defense building construction after November 1, except for electric wiring, and virtually prohibited its use next year in the manufacture of more than 100 common household articles.

The order was issued by Donald M. Nelson, director of priorities. It declared that between now and January 1, 1942, the amount of copper in the list of 100 articles must be restricted to approximately 60 per cent of the amount used in a 1940 base period. It prohibited the use of any copper in these articles, except for non-decorative plating, after January 1, 1942; and reduced to 70 per cent of a 1940 base period the amount of copper in all items not listed.

Besides electric wiring, the following are exempted from the restrictions:

Contracts of government defense agencies which specify copper; products covered by underwriter rules or other safety regulations in effect on October 1, 1941; chemical plants where corrosive action makes other materials impracticable; research laboratories; condenser or heating exchanger tubes and tube sheets in steam generating plants and oil refineries where corrosion exists; and hydro-electric plants.

The list of articles in which copper is to be temporarily limited and eventually eliminated reaches into every home. It includes building supplies and hardware, house furnishings and equipment, dress accessories, jewelry, gifts and novelties, burial equipment, automotive, trailer and tractor equipment; and a miscellaneous list including such items as barrel hoops, fire extinguishers and toys.

Japan 'Encircled' Tojo Claims, Calls For Fighting Unity

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tokyo, Oct. 20. — Declaring Japan "encircled" by foreign powers, Premier General Eiki Tojo today called upon the country's people and fighting forces to display the "iron unity" necessary to bring the empire through its "crucial hour."

His appeal for unity and an address in which he told war officials to be prepared to sacrifice everything for their country were made against a backdrop of newspaper assertions to the effect that Japan would neither challenge the United States and Great Britain to war in the Pacific nor shrink from a challenge from them.

Subjects Go Home

Japanese understood that by encirclement Tojo referred to recent military and economic measures taken by the United States, Great Britain, China and The Netherlands East Indies, and Russia's war against the axis powers.

Two Japanese liners sailed today for United States ports to bring home Japanese subjects alarmed by the tension in the Pacific. The Hikawa Maru left Yokohoma for Seattle and the Taiyo Maru sailed from Kobe for Honolulu. A third ship, the Tatuta Maru, was already enroute from Yokohoma to San Francisco on the same mission.

One of Tojo's first steps as he settled into his new authority upon return by plane from a pilgrimage to the grand shrine to the sun goddess at Ise was to order a sweeping and unexpected change in Japan's police bureau heads.

Uses Strong Hand

Tojo's unity appeal was made in an order of the day to his subordinates in the war office. The new premier holds also the posts of war minister and home minister.

Evidence of his determination to rule with a strong hand at home while presenting a stern front to other nations was seen in the police shakeup and in a statement as he took over the home ministry.

In this he insisted it was his first determination to "ensure peace and order" but declined to elaborate on the statement, telling Japanese reporters "there has been too much talk already."

NAZI CHIEFTAIN IN NANTES SHOT

Gunmen Escape; Fearful France Awaits New Reprisal Moves

(By The Associated Press)

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Oct. 20—General Holtz, German commandant of the important Nantes region of western occupied France, was killed today by two gunmen who escaped, and Frenchmen tonight fearfully awaited severe Nazi reprisals.

The general was the highest German officer yet attacked in the wave of terrorism in the occupied zone, and German sources warned the assassination "might have very serious consequences."

German and French police began a thorough roundup of suspects who may be executed as hostages under the German system of exacting many French lives for every slain German soldier.

The gunmen apparently were well aware of General Holtz's routine. They lay in wait on the tree-lined cours Saint Pierre in front of Saint Pierre church.

As the general passed shortly after 8 a. m. enroute to his office they opened fire. The general was reported to have suffered both pistol and shotgun wounds, two of them in the head.

Before police could ring the area the gunmen disappeared.

Nantes is up the Loire river east of Atlantic port city of St. Nazaire, a frequent target of British bombers. Holtz was described as gendarmerie general, charged with maintaining harmony between the French people and the German occupation troops.

Nazi authorities promptly instituted a 7 p. m. curfew in Nantes to replace the 9 p. m. one put in effect after a German garage had been burned.

Proclamation Lists Oct. 27 As Navy Day

Lansing, Oct. 20, (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner today proclaimed October 27 Navy Day "in deserved tribute to the sea heroes of the nation and the part they have played in making and keeping us a free people."

He proclaimed October 26 to November 2 as "Michigan Poetry Week, to be devoted to renewing our appreciation of the works of our poets."

INVASION PACE BEATEN DOWN BY RED ARMY

PERIL AT CAPITAL'S GATES IS NOT LESSENEND

By The Associated Press

London, Oct. 20.—Soviet accounts indicated today the Germans still were inching forward upon Moscow, but only over battlefields reddened by a great slaughter, and an informed source here expressed the opinion the pace of the invasion generally had been materially beaten down.

Radio announcements from the Soviet capital, where the silence of a city transfixed in a state of siege was only infrequently broken, made clear however, there was no lessening of the peril before the capital's gates.

Locusts Still Come

Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, declared in a broadcast manifesto that German losses in killed and wounded on all the eastern front now approached 4,000,000, but added:

"Still these accursed locusts come on!"

On the basis of the available information a qualified London informant offered this picture, although stressing it was necessarily qualified by the fact news was meager:

1. The Moscow front:

Russian resistance appeared still strong enough for effective counter-attacks, particularly in the vicinity of Kalinin, which lies 95 miles above the capital. While nothing specific was said here about the areas of more imminent menace—those of Mozhaisk, 57 airline miles west of Moscow, and Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles below the capital—the Russians themselves in their noon communique reported continued heavy fighting there with no indication of any material change in positions.

Advance Not Easy

2. The southern Ukrainian front:

It appeared increasingly plain the Germans were having a hard time of it in attempting to drive through the forces of Marshal Semeon Budyenny to Rostov on the Don River. London had no confirmation of the German claim to the capture of Taganrog, some 30 miles west of that important port.

3. The Leningrad front:

There was some basis for the belief—so said this informant—that the Germans had been forced from the offensive to defensive tactics and now were merely digging in.

A Moscow radio report tonight said German troops in the Arctic area around Murmansk had been forced to withdraw.

The Ankara radio broadcast a Havas (Vichy French) news agency report that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, commander of the Russian armies on the central front, had been dismissed.

Won't Give Up

Clamor for a new British front to relieve the Russians disappeared from the London newspapers during the day.

Vernon Bartlett, a member of parliament just returned from Russia, told a luncheon gathering:

"We dare not urge the govern-

CLERK THWARTS PRISON ESCAPE

Long Termers Are Shot In Nashville, Using Warden As Hostage

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 20 (AP)—A mild-mannered prison record clerk with a quick trigger finger thwarted a daring prison break at the main state penitentiary today, slaying two long-term killers who used Warden Tom Gore as a hostage in their bid for freedom.

The clerk was James Glidewell, 40, who shot the two men as they stood at the prison gate with a pistol and an icepick jammed in Gore's back and shouted:

"Open up the gate or we'll kill him!"

Warden Gore admitted he was given a "good scare." He said he was returning to his office when the men approached and handed him a note. The warden said he thought the note was "just some complaint until I felt the pistol and icepick in my back, then I knew what was happening."

The note, hand-written, said: "Warden: Keep your hands down. Our freedom or your life. Which is it?"

The slain convicts were William O'Day, 40, and James E. Charleson, 23.

After the shooting, Glidwell, unruffled and calm, related that he was attracted to the gate by noises.

"I went out," he said, "saw what the situation was and yelled to the men, who kept shouting they were going to kill the warden, to wait; that we would open the gate.

"Then I ran into my office, got my pistol and returned. I ordered the gate opened, pushed into the trap (space between the 'inner' and 'outer' gates) and shot O'Day in the left chest. Just as I shot him, Warden Gore grabbed the pistol and then I shot Carleson. It was just a lucky break that I shot the man with the pistol first."

Gore said the pistol he grabbed from O'Day was one which had been stolen recently from a guard.

Auto Safety Drive Will Be Sponsored By Commerce Ass'n.

Members of the Escanaba Commerce Association made tentative plans at a regular meeting last night to sponsor an automobile safety campaign in the city and a committee which will meet this week with city and county authorities, was appointed.

Also discussed at the meeting were plans for winter activities and a renewed membership drive which is expected to get under way next month.

The members also agreed to sponsor a Christmas program, the details of which will be worked out at a meeting in the near future.

Crippled Childrens' Aid Again Michigan Problem

Lansing, Oct . 20 (AP)—The problem of financing the hospitalization of crippled and afflicted children, which plagued the administration of former Governor Luren D. Dickinson and became a campaign issue, arose again today to face the administration of Governor Van Wagoner.

A delegation representing the state crippled children commission and others informed Van Wagoner a number of hospitals are refusing to take any but emergency cases, because the maximum allowance fixed by law was inadequate.

Van Wagoner said he would consult with persons more familiar with the problem before announcing his next step.

The governor said a number of hospitals contend the $3.50 a day maximum allowance for the hospitalization of an afflicted child, or $4.50 a day for a crippled child is far too low. He said the hospitals contend the average cost of treating such patients is $6 a day.

The expedient of paying more generously for "special treatment," the scale of which is not fixed by law, was discussed.

"We may find ourselves in the position of having an adequate appropriation for this type of work," Van Wagoner asserted, "but still unable to expend it."

He emphasized that University hospital at Ann Arbor is not turning away such cases for financial reasons.

Dr. Carleton Dean, executive secretary of the crippled children commission, said he was aware of the problem, but had no official reports on which to base an estimate of its extent. "I only know," he said, "that some hospitals will take these children only in cases of urgent need."

He said he has not been informed of the yardstick urged to determine urgency.

The governor conferred with Paul H. King, Detroit; Frank Couzens, Detroit; Max Reynolds, Marquette, and Dr. Arnold B. Fenech, Detroit, members of the crippled children commission; Dr. Robert S. Grieve, of Ann Arbor, representing the Michigan Hospital Association; Shirley Smith, representing the University hospital in Ann Arbor, George H. Burke, Ann Arbor attorney and chairman of the civil service commission, and others.

It was understood that in metropolitan areas, hospitals have a space problem which is a factor in the dispute. Group hospital insurance has provided so many patients that facilities of some are over-taxed. This factor also entered the picture in rural areas, it was said, but not to such a great extent.

In the Dickinson administration, the dispute was complicated by a smaller appropriation than officials said was needed, and by reductions imposed by the executive office on the fees to physicians caring for crippled and afflicted children. At one time Dickinson threatened to oust the entire commission because it disagreed with his policies, and a number of physicians refused to accept reduced fees for the work, preferring to do it free.

vent the entire ship filling with water.

Hull made the disclosure the Kearny had suffered 21 casualties an occasion for a vigorous new denunciation of the German government.

The torpedoing, he said, is one more incident in a series illustrating the known and confessed effort of Adolf Hitler to get control of the seas as well as of the continents.

He went on to say that Hitler has notified all nations to keep out of an area measuring 1,600 by 1,500 miles, in other words a large portion of the north Atlantic, and has warned that no nation—in self defense or otherwise—shall send a ship into that area without the penalty of having it sunk without a trace.

What Hitler proposes, of course, the secretary continued, is to drive other countries off the high seas, by intimidation or force, as part of his program of conquest.

Sarcastically, Hull added that if ships and nationals of other countries were to oblige Hitler by getting off the seas he supposed the Nazi leader next would want them to get off the earth.

Daugherty Estate Not Half Million

Columbus, O., Oct. 20, (AP)—An estate estimated at "somewhat less than $500,000" was left by Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in President Harding's cabinet, who died Oct. 12.

The estimate was made today by his attorney, Lyle M. Sandles, as the Daugherty will was filed for probate.

The will sets up a trust fund from which a daughter, Mrs. Emily Rarey, will receive one half the income or at least $4,000 a year.

Upon the death of Mrs. Rarey and other beneficiaries, the trust fund will be diveded among Daugherty's heirs-at-law, the Broad Street Methodist Church, Columbus; the Grace M. E. church at Washington Court House, O., Daugherty's birthplace, and the University of Michigan, from which Daugherty was graduated.

Convicts Captured At Kalamazoo Home

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 20 (AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies maintaining a watch over the home of Fred Vallier, 25, fugitive from Southern Michigan prison, nabbed Vallier and a companion, Robert Spencer, 24, of Flint, today.

Vallier and Spencer fled the Vandercook prison farm last Wednesday with a third convict, Clifford Cagle, 25, who is still at liberty. They told officers, they separated from Cagle Friday night when a patrolman halted him for questioning in Kalamazoo.

Expense Accounts Trimmed At Lansing

Lansing, Oct. 20, (AP)—Lieutenant Governor Frank Murphy said today he would not contest the action of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown reducing one of his expense accounts from $584.60 to $123.20.

The auditor general refused to allow Murphy five cents a mile for travel from his Detroit residence to his office in Lansing. In addition, he voted the lieutenant governor's request for $7.90 to cover the cost of a trip to a legislative gathering at North Adams, describing it as a "social" call, and $4.70 for a trip to the recent Chesaning showboat entertainment, asserted that could not be considered official business.

Murphy receives $3 a day, as other legislators, plus $2,500 a year as a member of the administrative board.

Four Michigan CCC Camps Close Nov. 1

Lansing, Oct. 20 (AP)— Jay H. Price, regional U. S. forester at Milwaukee, today ordered four Michigan civilian conservation camps closed by November 1.

Closing of the Houghton Lake, Pigeon river, Escanaba river and Fox camps will leave Michigan with four camps, the Cusino, Paradise, Wolverine and Higgins. Michigan had 42 camps in 1933 and 1934.

Wayland Osgood, secretary of the state conservation commission, said Price reported difficulty in filling enrollment quotas led to the order.

UNABLE TO RALLY

(By The Associated Press)

Berlin, Oct. 20—Axis armies were described tonight as smashing eastward toward Kharkov and Rostov to carry the fight quickly to a new Russian defense deep in the Donets basin, where the battered Russian forces were expected to be reinfoced by fresh troops from the east.

A military commentator said the high command already had a great new encirclement under way to meet the Russian attempt to guard important war industries along the Donets. So far, the commentator added, retreating Red army units were being followed so closely they had been unable to rally.

Shipping Strangled

Military commentators also interpreted the fall of Taganrog, announced by the high command over the week-end, as giving the Germans an effective stranglehold on shipments from Russia's Caucasus port of Batum.

Earlier, it was said, the Russians eased pressure on their rail lines by shipping from Batum to Taganrog by water and then carrying on by train to Moscow. Now, it was pointed out, the water route has been cut except for the southern stretch from Batum to Novorassisk, and the rest of the rail route is in close bomber range.

There were indications the Germans expect the early fall of Kharkov, in the heart of the Donets valley. Foreign correspondents were handed German releases pointing out the importance of the city of 834,000.

Fist To Close Soon

The Germans said it was a metal trades center, with factories for agricultural machinery, tractors, trucks, tanks, bicycles, motorcycles, automobiles and locomotives.

All along the eastern front German forces were said to be "following up the advantages gained by recent decisive battles"—the encirclements at Vyazma, Bryansk and north of the Sea of Azov.

Paris radio reports Moscow had been completely encircled could not be confirmed here, but the Germans continued to pound at Moscow's fortification system.

Dienst described the German siege of Leningrad as "one of strength saving," but said that at any time the high command chose the "fist around the city on the Finnish gulf can be closed."

Merseyside Town Has Bombing Raid

London, Tuesday, Oct. 21 (AP)—Eight or nine German raiding planes flew over a Merseyside town at half-hour intervals last night and early today, dropping bombs which caused some acknowledged damage and a few casualties.

It was the first time since midsummer that the area has been visited by more than one or two raiders.

Ground defenses put up a heavy barrage and the sky was lit by their searchlights and by flares dropped by the Germans.

Several bombs also were dropped in an east coast area.

The RAF yesterday ground-strafed German troops and blasted an ammunition train from the tracks in a broadsweep across occupied France, the air ministry announced.

Five Escape Injury As Car, C&NW Switch Engine Collide Here

A sedan owned and driven by Belle Bodette, 317 South Tenth street, was badly damaged but its driver and four other occupants escaped serious injury when the car was struck by a C. & N. W. switch engine at the Stephenson avenue crossing about 8:40 last night.

The weather was misty and Miss Bodette, who was driving south on the avenue, said she did not see the backing engine or the signal man until the collision.

Police officers said the machine was struck between its front and rear right-hand doors by the engine's coupler.

Accompanying Miss Bodette were Mr. and Mrs. Abe Baum, 1200 Eighth avenue south, Mrs. Emmet Meehan, 417 South Seventh street, and Mrs. F. M. Nienaber, 324 South Seventh street.

All of the car's occupants suffered slightly from shock but otherwise were uninjured.

Republicans Plan Campaign Activity; Kelly Is Chairman

Lansing, Oct. 20. (AP)—A group of Republican leaders set wheels in motion today for integrating campaign activity.

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state and chairman of the conference, said group meetings would be held within the next fortnight, from which he hoped would spring a full program.

Today's was the first meeting of a steering committee organized by Kelly, composed of four members of the house, four senators, four from Michigan's delegation to congress, and the four Republican elective officials, to work with the central committee, and other Republican groups. The congressional group sent a telegram pledging support of the plan, but declaring the members were tied up by congressional affairs and could not come here for the conference. The other branches were represented.

The meeting was closed to news men.

Week End Traffic Accidents Kill 4 Escanaba Citizens

2403 Ludington street, and a Soo Line train at the crossing of the Soo Line branch and highway M-67 near Trenary at 11:12 o'clock yesterday morning.

Nelson, who was reported to have been a passenger in the truck, had both legs cut off and died an hour after the accident. Spalding received lacerations of the head, but no major injuries.

On Vacation

The fireman had been on duty at the North Escanaba station until 7 o'clock Monday morning and was about to begin his annual vacation. He went to Wells to ride with Spalding on the truck to Trenary where he planned to hunt. The truck is owned by Herman Hawkinson, 2403 Ludington, Spalding's employer, a logging jobber and Spalding was on his way to a camp to pick up a load of logs.

The truck was traveling east at the time of the collision and the train was moving south. Caught by the train, the vehicle was dragged some distance and crashed against the water tank at the Soo Line Trenary station. The truck struck the first car behind the engine's tender.

John De Vost and William Birmingham, both of Gladstone, were the conductor and engineer of the train.

Train crew members said they saw two men in the truck as it approached, and it is believed that Nelson opened the cab door of the truck to jump while Spalding swung his machine to avoid striking the train and Nelson was thrown from the cab underneath the train.

However, Spalding told officers that Nelson was not a passenger in his truck.

State police officers from Marquette investigated the accident.

HAROLD E. BRICK

Harold Edgar Brick was born in Greenwood, Wis., December 16, 1906. He had been a resident of Escanaba for the past four years, located here as bookkeeper and superintendent of the Escanaba office of Swift and Company. He had been with the company for the past 15 years, in the Sheboygan, Wis., office for nine years, and previously in Milwaukee.

He was a member of the First Methodist church of this city.

Surviving are his wife and three children, Joan, 10, Janice, 6, and Stephen, 14 months; his mother, Mrs. Mathilda Brick of Greenwood, Wis.; four brothers and one sister, Arthur and Alvin of Greenwood, Raymond of Chicago, Elmer of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Irene Dusso, of Greenwood; and his grandfather, Herman Schwarze, of Greenwood.

The body is resting in state at the Anderson Funeral Home where services will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. William A. Gregory of the First Methodist church officiating. Following the service this afternoon the body will remain in state at the funeral home chapel until early Wednesday morning when it will be taken to the family home in Greenwood. Services will be held there Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and at 2:30 o'clock at West Side Immanuel church, with burial in West Side Immanuel cemetery.

WALTER J. TAYLOR

Walter J. Taylor was born in Escanaba, December 21, 1914. He was graduated from St. Joseph's high school in 1932 and his marriage to Miss Evelyn Rouse took place on September 10, 1938, at St. Patrick's church here.

He was manager of the Goodyear Tire company at the Northern Motor company building.

Surviving are his wife and one daughter, Elizabeth Margaret, two months old; his mother, Mrs. Agnes Taylor of Escanaba; two sisters, Mrs. Cyril Johnson of Detroit and Miss Marie Taylor of Escanaba, and two brothers, William and Roland Taylor of Escanaba.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home where it will be in state beginning this morning. Services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy officiating, and burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

LUDWIG N. NELSON

Ludwig N. Nelson was born in Sweden, July 25, 1886. He had been a city fireman, with the No. 2 Department at North Escanaba for the past eighteen years, coming here from Eustis, where he lived from childhood.

He was a member of the North Star lodge.

Surviving are his wife, the former Gertrude Way, and twin daughters, Helen and Hazel.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. Arrangements will be completed today, and it is expected that the services will be held Thursday afternoon.

Railroader Hurt In Yards Here

George H. Carey, St. Paul railroad brakeman, received a head injury during switching operations in the No. 6 ore yard of the Chicago and North Western railroad here at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening.

Because of poor visibility in the rain, Carey was leaning out from the side of the car on which he was riding watching for signals from the other end of the train when his head was struck by a car on a nearby track. He received a head wound which required several stitches to close. The injury was not regarded as a serious one.

Rat Bait Will Be Set Next Saturday

Twelve Boy Scouts and four city employes working with two trucks will set about 300 pounds of rat bait here next Saturday morning in another effort to rid the city of the vermin.

City Engineer Art Aronson, who is supervising the campaign, said that the main alleys between First avenues north and south would both be covered.

However, the bait will not be set elsewhere except in dwellings and business places known to be rat infested and in other places whose owners request the service.

Anyone interested in having the bait set in their homes or business houses should call the city enginee's office or Boy Scout headquarters before Saturday.

A number of such requests have already been made.

FOUR INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Mrs. Frank Warner Still In Serious Condition, Truck Driver Held

Munising, Oct. 20—Mrs. Frank Warner was still unconscious at the Munising hospital at noon today as the result of injuries received in a head-on collision early Sunday morning between the car in which she was riding and a truck on a curve east of here two miles on M-94, near Rosewood Park. Mrs. Warner suffered paralysis of the right side, a cerebral hemorrhage and lacerations of the scalp. Mr. Warner received a fractured knee cap and general bruises and the Warners' son, Kenneth, and Gerald Utecht, who were also in the automobile, received bumps and bruises. Utechet's collarbone was injured.

Arne Heitikko, 21, driver of the truck, disappeared into the woods following the accident and was the object of search by officers in a nearby swamp all day. He reported this morning to Sheriff Louis Pelletier at the county courthouse and said that he had been dazed following the accident and wandered away from the scene. He came to the residence of George LaRue, owner of the truck, this morning and went to the sheriff with LaRue. Heitikko was immediately placed in the Alger county jail. He was to be questioned by the sheriff and state police today and will be held pending the outcome of Mrs. Warner's injuries.

School Will Have Hallowe'en Parties

Munising, Oct. 20—Hallowe'en parties are scheduled for the nights of October 30 and 31 for the local school students. The seventh and eighth grades of the Sacred Heart and the Mather schools will hold their party on October 30 in the Mather gymnasium.

Classes of the senior high school will have their celebration in the gymnasium on October 31.

Class presidents and class advisors are making the arrangements.

Laytonen Hearing Will Open Today

Munising, Oct. 20—Judge Herbert A. Runnels today set the murder trial of Mrs. Hilma Laytonen, 65, and her son, Charles, 34, as first on the docket for the current term of Alger county circuit court, and the hearing will get under way Tuesday morning. Mrs. Layonen and her son are charged with the slaying of a neighbor, Victor Luoma, 52, in July, 1940.

Judge Runnels asked that 15 extra jurors be called in addition to the regular panel of 30, and also that 14 jurors be selected in the case instead of 12 to guard against mistrial due to illness of any of the jurymen. Harry W. Jackson of Lansing, assistant attorney general, and Ray Gillespie of Sault Ste. Marie will handle the prosecution for the state, due to the fact that Prosecuting Attorney R. E. O'Brien was disqualified for having defended Mrs. Laytonen in a murder case in 1932.

Another criminal case on schedule for this week is the trial of Charles Kauppi of Calumet, charged with negligent homicide in the death of Wayne Pelkki, age 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Toivo Pelkki of Chatham.

ART PROGRAMS BOOKED

Munising, Oct. 20—On the evenings of November 4, 5 and 6, programs relating to the subject of art will be presented in the Mather high school audtiorium. These programs will include picture poses, art talks, chalk talks and rag pictures. At the same time three hundred reproductions of masterpieces of art will be displayed in the school building.

The programs are open to the public. A small admission will be changed and proceeds will be used to purchase pictures for the school rooms.

"CRUISE" AT LEGION CLUB

Munising, Oct. 20—Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold a "round the world cruise" on Wednesday evening at their meeting in the Legion club. London, Java, Honolulu, Brazil and other famous places will be reviewed with the cruise beginning at 5:30 o'clock at the club and ending there at 8:30. Refreshments will be served at each stop and a business meeting will follow.

MRS. OVID AYOTTE

Munising, Oct. 20 — Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Rita's church, Trenary, for Mrs. Ovid Ayotte, 46, who died Saturday at her home in Limestone. The Rev. Anderson of Rapid River will officiate. Burial will be made in the Limestone cemetery.

The body was taken to the home of Mrs. Ayotte's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brisson, Sr., of Limestone, from the Beaulieu Funeral Home this morning and will remain there until the time of the service.

Officers Wage War On Slot Machines; Cash Take Is $164

Munising, Oct. 20—The "blitzkreig" on slot machines operating in Munising Saturday night meant a total of more than $164 to the city of Munising and Alger county. The thirteen machines taken in raids on eleven business places were taken apart yesterday and this morning their works were dumped into Lake Superior. Machines that had aluminum shells will be broken up and the aluminum will be given to the government. The others will be destroyed.

DON ROGERS DIES

Munising, Oct. 20 — Don C. Rogers, 52, brother-in-law of Mrs. Bernie Wendt, West Superior street, died in Detroit Sunday following an operation. Mr. Rogers resided here from 1912 to 1915 and was employed at the Cleveland-Cliffs sawmill while here. His wife and a daughter survive him.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Everett spent the week-end visiting friends in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Johnson visited in Marquette on Sunday.

Wilbur X. Derus spent Sunday in Green Bay.

The Munising hospital auxiliary will hold a rummage and white elephant sale on November 3 and 4 at the Legion County club. Persons wishing to donate any articles may call Mrs. Oscar Oie or Mrs. William Tidd.

The East Munising Girl Scouts will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Washington school gymnasium. Troop leaders are the Misses Evelyn Ebbeson and Maurine Morrison, assisted by Mrs. Horace Whitmore, Mrs. Harry Olson and Mrs. William Wilson.

Free Methodist revival meetings will be held for the next two weeks in the church on East Munising avenue. The Rev. Forest C. Gallup of Zeeland, Mich., will be the evangelist.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will hold their annual harvest supper in the Methodist church on Thursday. Serving will begin at 5:30 o'clock.

MEDICAL EXAMS ORDERED FOR 23

Delta County Men Will Go to Marquette By Bus Nov. 4

The Delta county draft board received instructions yesterday from the state selective service headquarters to send 23 men to Marquette on Tuesday, November 4, for final type physical examinations. The order cancells previous instructions to have 19 men ready for examinations next month, Mrs. Thyra Cleereman, chief clerk of the local board, said.

The men will leave here Tuesday night by bus and will remain overnight in Marquette, receiving their examinations by the army medical board the following morning.

Construction of the Naval bases leased by this country from Great Britain is being speeded by the use in many instances of demountable steel buildings which need only to be assembled at the base site.

Fisher Gives Talk At Rotary Meeting

James Fisher, Houghton, district governor of Rotary, met yesterday with the combined memberships of the Escanaba and Gladstone clubs and told Rotarians that even though Rotary clubs had disbanded in 17 European countries that membership in Rotary in London and South America was increasing.

The speaker said that during and after the present crisis Rotary should be more conscious of its four ideals and that these would always remain fundamentally true and sound.

Fisher extended congratulations to the Escanaba club for the outstanding work that they have been doing, through the committee's chairman, Herman Gessner, for aid to crippled children and the assistance the club has given in maintaining the orthopedic room in connection with the public school system.

Past President Charles E. Lewis was presented with a Rotary pin for the work he did as the club's president during the past year.

WHEN?

Manufacturers are in doubt about production and styling of future models. Taking good care of your present car is sound judgment.

Whether you are driving a 1942 or an earlier model, the first item in car care is complete insurance protection. Be sure your policy provides current replacement value; that it guarantees full, prompt payment for loss or damage to your car from any cause, and for injury to the persons or property of others. Be sure it affords the conveniences of Road Service and Touring Information.

You can be sure of all this protection and generous dividend returns if you choose our Blue Ribbon policy. Investigate it now. Call or write.

THERE GOES A TIRE!

... but why junk the car?

Any car can have a blowout in a tire. But you wouldn't junk the car. You'd just fix the tire—or replace it.

That's very much like a situation that exists in the retailing of beer. Beer retailing has its "flat tires," too—retailers who disobey the law or who permit unsavory conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, we of the beer industry want to eliminate the few "flat tire" retailers. Here's another reason: Right here in Michigan, beer has provided employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and paid $4,439,995.07 in state taxes last year.

The state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for material, equipment and services—from more than 100 other industries.

Those benefits are worth preserving. You can help us preserve them by patronizing only the reputable and legal places where beer is sold and by reporting any law violations you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Progress Slow, But

WITH just an ordinary "break" in the weather for the next few weeks, it now seems probable that Escanaba's new municipal dock will be completed this fall, at least to a point where it can be made impregnable against ice damage next spring.

The last of the long rows of piling is now being driven and within another week it will be possible to fill the enclosure with sand, pumped from the bottom of the bay, in sufficient quantity to bolster the dock walls against the push of ice fields, next spring.

Construction of the new dock has been one of the city's principal WPA projects for the past summer and fall months—at least it has attracted more public attention than any other public work. When the work was started, early last spring, it was hoped to complete the dock structure and landscape the more than a square block of sand surface, by early fall. Prevalence of northwest winds that made work on the dock impossible for days at a time and other handicaps prevented progress in keeping with the original schedule, so that engineers in charge will now be satisfield to merely make their work of the summer, safe against the dangers of coming months.

Sand pumping, in the dock enclosure, will continue this fall, as long as weather conditions will permit and if the major portion of the fill can be finished this fall, it will require but a short time to complete the job in the spring, providing Escanaba with a public improvement of great future potential value to the city.

With the dock project out of the way, the major portion of the city's WPA labor, next season will be applied in completing the south shore improvement, left this year, through the exigencies of the year, in a sad state of unpreparedness for use during the past summer.

Progress may be disappointly slow on these projects, but when the dock and shore improvements are finally finished, Escanaba will be a far more attractive city in which to live.

Heroes As Experts

ACCORDING to Dr. John H. Sherman, president of Webber college, Americans have a tendency to attribute universal wisdom to the popular hero.

He points out that because Henry Ford was able to make a fortune in the manufacture of cheap cars, many people accepted him as an authority on international affairs. Thomas Edison, the inventor, once came out with a plan for reform of the banking system, which proved to be a fallacy.

Dr. Sherman also attempts to puncture the so-called Lindbergh myth. Lindbergh was the sixty-third person to fly the Atlantic in 1927, although the first to make the crossing without a passenger. His stunt caught the imagination of the public, and overnight he became an authority on commercial aviation, military aviation, airplane design and motor construction. In recent months, the flyer has been posing as an expert on international affairs.

But Dr. Sherman contends that Lindbergh is not even to be considered as an outstanding authority in his own field of aviation. The college president contends that the flyer was wrong in his estimate of the strength of the Russian and British flying forces. He also points out that Lindbergh advised Congress in January that the Greenland route for air service between American and Europe would be the least feasible. Since then, the Greenland route has been found safe, economical and satisfactory, and the bases on the island are routinely and satisfactorily maintained.

It is true that Americans are great hero worshipers. Publicity build-ups have led us to believe that one who excels in one field of activity is competent to advise us in other matters. In times like these, we are likely to be misled unless we do some serious thinking for ourselves.

Salvation Army Appeals

THE Salvation Army has issued its annual appeal for funds to finance its welfare activity for the ensuing year.

A report by the officer in charge here reveals that considerable aid was given to unfortunate persons during the past year. In addition, there much good done by the Salvation Army that cannot be mentioned in a mere statistical report.

With America threatened by the war that how already a large portion of the world, we are reminded of the wonderful record of humanitarian service performed by the Salvation Army in the first World war. The national organization of the Salvation Army is already doing its part to help the men in the army camps and other military establishments, and it can be depended upon to stay on the job until the emergency is passed.

Those who contribute to the Salvation Army are helping to maintain an organization, which has a fine record for public service and which certainly will be on the job whenever needed in the future.

Unrest Continues

NAZI patrol forces continue to have trouble in subduing demonstrations of unrest in France, Norway, Belgium, Bohemia and the other conquered nations.

If the Nazis are annoyed by the lack of cooperation by the enslaved peoples of these countries, they are going to find a much worse situation in any territory they take from Russia. The Russians have been long trained in the science of revolution, and already they have shown their effectiveness in guerilla warfare behind the German lines.

Of course, people without equipment cannot successfully revolt and overpower the highly efficient Nazi war machine, but if the Allies ever muster enough men and equipment to invade the European country they will find the assistance of Nazi-hating people in the defeated countries of great value.

UPSET IN PANAMA
(Milwaukee Journal)

The Panama canal must not be endangered under any circumstances. The life of this nation depends on it. That is one of the cold, hard facts in the necessities of America's defense.

The canal would be endangered by a regime in Panama City which was opposed to the interests of the United States. For such a regime could, and would, add a vast burden to the already complex problem of guarding the isthmus which connects the continents.

At best, with Panama's full co-operation, there are a thousand opportunities for spies to work—in the jungle, on lonely islands near by, in the crowded maze of the Panamanian capital. Here is always a source of worry. It would naturally be a more burdensome source if the Panamanian government itself were unfriendly.

Such a regime has been in existence, by the accounts of those who have studied the problem of the Canal Zone. Dr. Arnulfo Arias, who has just been ousted as president and has fled to Cuba, did not wholeheartedly help in America's effort to provide for the defense of both Panama and the canal.

Dr. Arias says he was a nationalist intent only on acting in the best interest of Panama. His enemies say he was a Nazi sympathizer. We do not have to choose between these two views. The record of non-co-operation is there and it is enough. The safety of the canal was being threatened. And Dr. Arias goes.

Unfortunately, this trouble which results in the elevation to the presidency of a man much more favorable to the United States will furnish a lot of ammunition for critics in the United States, those critics who are always whining that everything the administration does is wrong. They will follow the "Nazi line" of ironically picturing how America, the exponent of democracy and self-rule, dictates to another American country. That picture is not true, whether it originates in Germany or among those of our own fertile critics who follow the Goebbels line.

In the first place, this ousted Arias was no exponent of democracy. He rose to power, pistol in hand, when he led his own revolution a few years ago. He took the presidency when the time seemed ripe and doctored the nation's constitution to suit himself. After that his chief aim seemed to be to fasten exploitation on Panama with one hand and to exploit the United States with the other.

In one feature of this whole thing America is vulnerable. We used Panama as a dodge in the ship registry matter to get around our neutrality law—because the administration did not have the courage to face the question of the law itself. That was not to our credit—let us say it frankly—or to the credit of the president. The lesson to us ought to be to face our own questions honestly, whatever they are.

But the ship matter was a side issue. The troubles in Panama were more basic. Democracy has not lost anything by the passing out of the picture of Dr. Arias, and it may have gained something, both in Panama and in the United States.

We are not going to let the defense of the Americas be imperiled. We have voted our treasure and are training our boys to do this job. Any condition which threatens this defense will have to be corrected. Who wants it otherwise?

Isn't it strange what some people put auto licenses on?

Lots of men going along on easy street turn off on Wall Street and get lost.

"Japan fears strangulation by American economic SANCTIONS."—Newspaper headline.

Ordinarily, the word SANCTION means "approval; authorization; recognition." Lately, however, the word has been given a new meaning that may not be found in your dictionary.

ECONOMIC SANCTIONS are measures that a nation takes to prevent another nation from receiving financial aid, raw materials, food stuffs, munitions, etc., with which to prepare for or carry on a war. Sanctions may be applied by a suspension of credit, by a refusal to sell or ship vital materials, or by actual blockade of a country. Nations may adopt sanctions against a country with which they are technically at peace.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The Republican isolationist logjam is slowly but steadily breaking up. Another big chunk will soon cut loose in the person of Tom Dewey.

Shortly after the New York City elections, the dapper little District Attorney, who is voluntarily quitting this job which gave him his political start, will make a speech in which he will desert the isolationist camp.

Dewey will not go all the way with Wendell Willkie, GOP titular leader, who has come out for a declaration of war against Hitler. But he will endorse the policy of aiding foes of Nazism and will call for national unity behind the President.

Behind the scenes, Dewey has been wobbling on the foreign issue for some time. With his eye fixed on the New York gubernatorial race next year as a stepping stone for another try at the presidency in 1944, he has been in a stew which way to jump. What cautious statements he has made has been of an isolationist tenor and he has been considered in the "anti" fold.

But after some secret polling in key sections of the State, Dewey finally became convinced that if he wants to be governor he will have to dissassociate himself clearly and definitely from any isolationist taint.

So, after the municipal elections, he will take the plunge in a speech carefully staged to ensure the widest publicity.

—GRACIAS SENORA—

The famous Brazilian artist Candido Portinari recently painted a portrait of Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who accompanied her movie star husband on a good-will tour of Latin America.

When the portrait was completed, the artist sent it to her, but much to his surprise the portrait came bouncing back, with a letter in which Mrs. Fairbanks said that her husband had been out of work for some months, and was now devoting his time to the service of his country (Douglas is in the Naval Reserve), she found it impossible to buy the portrait. The price was $500.

With a gesture which only a Latin could conceive, Portinari calculated the number of hours Mrs. Fairbanks had spent in sitting for the portrait, multiplied it by the hourly wage of an artist's model, and sent her a check.

Then he gave the portrait to his two-year-old daughter.

Note: Portinari is now painting a series of murals for the Hispanic Foundation of the Library of Congress in Washington.

—NEW NAZI SCHEME—

U. S. Intelligence authorities have uncovered a new Nazi scheme to get desperately needed raw materials at the expense of our Latin American Good Neighbor policy and the British blockade.

The way the plan works is this: The Nazis get a friendly neutral European country to approach a South American government with an attractive offer to buy a large quantity of goods. Ostensibly the purchase is for the neutral, but actually it is for Germany, to whom the goods would be trans-shipped once they crossed the Atlantic.

One suspected deal of this kind was uncovered in El Salvador, in Central America.

The Spanish Minister there offered to buy 6,000 bales of cotton from the government. With its export trade in the doldrums because of the war, El Salvador would like very much to make a sale of this size. But authorities are skeptical of the ultimate destination of the cotton.

Fascist Spain is closely associated with Nazi Germany. Also, General Franco is heavily in Hitler's debt for aid in the civil war. Authorities strongly suspect that Spain is merely acting as a secret "front" and that the cotton is sought for Germany and not Spain.

If that is true, and the cotton got across the Atlantic, it would be a double triumph for the Nazis. They would have thumbed their nose both at our Good Neighbor policy and the British blockade.

Note: Real inside reason for the War Department's seizure of 18 bombing planes bound for Peru was not the announced one — that they were needed for hard-pressed Russia. The planes were diverted because Peru has been bombing open cities in Ecuador, which has no aircraft to retaliate. Lend-lease armaments are being withheld from both until they settle their border squabble.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood — Nine lives are enough for one man to give for his studio, says Jimmy Cagney, who's in the midst of an heroic and gory demise for "Captains of the Clouds." Most actors like dramatic death scenes, but Cagney has done them in eight other pictures.

He sits in a cutaway version of a fighter plane cockpit and engages in battle with the Luftwaffe. Finally a Messerschmitt pilot gets the Canadian in his sights. A burst shatters the glass just above him. Then a bullet hits him. An ordinary mortal, struck in the head by a machine gun bullet, would go into a spin at that point, but in the tradition of Cagney tenacity, he goes on fighting awhile.

It has been a four-day headache for Mr. C., what with the gooey red paint that keeps running down into his eyes, and with the din of eight imitation machine guns and the occasional cannon blasts—from a semi-automatic shotgun.

"I wish I was dead," he says plaintively. "I want to get killed off so I can start my vacation."

MAN STRIKES GAL

When Margaret Hayes asked Paramount for bigger and better roles, she said she didn't care how tough they were. So today they took her at her word and did everything except toss her off a sound stage roof.

As a German agent and the she-menace of "The Lady Has Plans," Miss Hayes walks into a Lisbon hotel room, finds herself trapped by Ray Milland, playing an American news commentator. She yanks a gun from her leopard-skin muff, and as she fires, he ducks and clips her on the jaw. After some discussion it was decided that she must crumple at the knees and fall on her face with the gun arm limply outstretched.

So they tried the scene, and with his first haymaker Milland cut his knuckles on her revolver. The next take started fine, and Milland continued by tying her hands and feet with towels, gagging her, dumping her on a bed and roughly unzipping the back of her dress. It's really all right because the American was only looking to see whether the skin of her back bore the plans of a radio-controlled torpedo. It did, too.

But that scene was spoiled when her ankles came untied. The last I saw of her, Miss Hayes was still being slugged, trussed, hauled and mauled. It's a hard life, gals.

If I didn't think the British would win the war, I would commit suicide.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer

Washington — The Communists, until recently the most spiteful saboteurs of the nation's defense effort, have now become its most ardent supporters.

American Reds are urging factory workers, sailors, even soldiers to speed up preparedness. They are even turning up and sometimes beating up Nazi agents with whom lately they were buddies. All which amuses, yet cheers, the U. S. Government's hunters of spies and saboteurs.

These new allies may be strange bedfellows, but they don't snore. They are wide-awake in their efforts to help in the tense preparations for the trial that seems impending, when the American Navy's shoot-at-sight orders may involve it actively in the Battle of the Atlantic.

For, once shooting starts, Hitler is expected to give up trying to appease this country and to flash the order that will set off bombs from coast to coast.

—NAZIS MAY HAVE WAITED TOO LONG—

Thus far Hitler has held his hand. Authorities believe that in the whole Middle Atlantic industrial region not a genuine Nazi bomb has boomed—only a few amateurs, mostly Ukrainians or Reds. This is not because the Nazis had no saboteurs planted, but because they did not wish again to arouse the country by such incidents as helped bring us into World War I. Perhaps they have waited too long, for they have lost their best allies of bomb and torch. The Reds have joined the American team.

The flop was made easier by the fact that Hitler's war on Stalin jolted Communists in America less than anywhere in the world. Not a few had seen it coming through our free press and radio—and not always with dismay. Distrusting the Hitler-Stalin pact, numbers gladly followed their Communist executive committee's switch-over from the old party line; work with the Nazis against democracy — to the new one: work with democracy against the Nazis.

Twenty labor unions (C.I.O.) accused of being either against defense or lukewarm, now support it. Many factory workers who were "dogging it" are now speeding up like Russian Stakhanovists. They have stopped orating against the "imperialist-capitalist war"; it has become a sacred crusade to save Stalin. The Ole Red Davil is no longer patriotism but pacifism.

The lately isolationist New Masses attacks the America First Committee for being isolationist. The whole Communist press cries for all-out war effort here, including immediate intervention.

But not all Communists have been transmogrified — especially transport and maritime workers. Result: naval guerrilla warfare whose front is the New York waterfront, whose "battleships" are the many vessels carrying couriers for the Nazi and Communist secret services, exporting information from agents here, importing orders and propaganda leaflets.

The Communist maritime couriers were more numerous than German agents, so after the Hitler-Stalin pact the Nazis asked their help. Some Reds refused it, but some gave it—and such collaboration disclosed to them some Nazi methods and agents.

When Hitler attacked Stalin, many of these same Reds declared private war on their erstwhile Nazi comrades. Their propaganda they dumped into the sea; their secret messages they intercepted or photographed and the German agents themselves were pointed out to American spy-hunters.

—VALUABLE IN COUNTER-ESPIONAGE—

The newly star-spangled Reds have also broken up one of the weirdest games in local counter-espionage annals — a seamen's group that paid seamen to shun the sea.

To sailors of non-British nationality, who would stay ashore and stop working on ships carrying supplies to Britain, this group of Commu-nazis, mainly Scandinavian, offered inducements: Money, liquor, girls—white, even for Chinese seamen—board and lodging, in the same Hoboken, N. J., that was a German spy hangout in World War 1. They even sent lawyers to Halifax whenever a convoy arrived, to assure its crew it was perfectly legal to quit—for a price. This ring's success was one reason (unpublished) why the Nazi consulates here were closed. Its failure was clinched when the British began sending supplies to Stalin.

The Reds have also thrown into reverse an imminent drive against Army morale that had some officers worried. Before Hitler attacked Stalin, Communist cells here were planning to introduce many male and female propagandists into soldiers' gathering places, not only honky-tonks, but U. S. O. huts. Then the voice from Moscow spoke, and loyally they counter-marched along the new party-line.

The Little Red Brother is really becoming a splendid influence in our family; which is funny, but viewed realistically, is very convenient. He might have been quite unpleasantly otherwise.

BETTER LAUGH

Why not laugh at nonsense?
  Some look at life so sour
And think to save the world
  By the strength of their own great power.
Of course life IS quite serious
  And great reforms have sprung
Only from the burdened hearted,
  And not from the silly tongue.

But few will be reformers,
  We play a very small part,
And it seems that we should play it
  With lightness of the heart!
So bring on the clowns and mimics,
  Step up the fun by half,
In this sorry situation
  We certainly need to laugh!

Ore Shipments Will Pass Four-Million Tons Mark This Year

Six Great Lakes ore carriers, among them the L. E. Block whose 15,000 tons make her one of the largest Lakes ore freighters afloat, will move into slips at C. N. W. docks in Escanaba tomorrow to take on more than 59,000 tons of Upper Peninsula iron ore. The day will mark one of the busiest 24 hour periods of the shipping season at the local ore piers.

Chicago and North Western docks will pass this week the 4,000,000-ton mark in ore shipments since the harbor was opened April 3. In about 10 days the 1930 mark of 4,096,813 tons shipped in 1930 will be surpassed, making 1941 the best in ore shipments from Escanaba since 1929 when 6,348,573 tons of ore were moved across local docks and shot down into holds of the ore carriers.

Boat Schedule

Through Monday, 1941 ore shipments from local C. N. W. docks totaled 3,955,000 tons, that volume handled by 433 boats. Thirteen boats took on ore here during the past seven days. The Statacona, 12,400 tons, and the Wallace, 10,300, docked in Escanaba yesterday.

The list of scheduled arrivals for ore boats here includes the following:

Today: Westmount, 9,500.

Wednesday: Hagerty, 11,000 tons; L. E. Block, 15,000; L. W. Hill, 11,000; W. D. Calverley, 6,400; A. E. Cornelius, 6,300, and Steelton, 9,500.

Thursday: A. M. Byers, 9,100.

Friday: Pathfinder, 10,500.

STEEL "HEADACHES"

Cleveland, Oct. 20—Threatening labor conditions and continued shortage of steelmaking scrap cast their shadows over the steel industry, with possibility of steel production being severely curtailed before the winter is over, says Steel.

At the moment the Chicago district is the focal point in the labor situation, the short interruption of a week ago, which cost considerable production, being followed by various movements looking toward a closed shop and fraught with dynamite as they develop. Results of the campaign in that district are expected to be followed by similar tactics in other centers. A Detroit producer is strike-bound, with two blast furnaces and a dozen open hearths down.

Unsettled strike against a Cleveland builder of automobile frames has caused at least three automobile builders to cease production, much of their output being for defense. Various other labor interruptions are taking place, the aggregate causing a great loss of production.

Requirements Decline

Requirements for raw steel in Great Britain have decreased moderately since early summer, Steel's London correspondent reports. Interpretation of this fact is to be found in measures taken to concentrate on war production and maintenance of plant and equipment required for such purposes.

These plants are in full production and are absorbing all the steel they can use. Meanwhile the manufacture of civilian products has practically ceased. The large tonnages of steel normally used for buildings, automobiles and peace-time products are not required. War products do not call for such large quantities.

Little publicized Order-in-Council establishing a wartime wage policy for Canadian labor, passed last June, has already curtailed strikes and reduced the number of persons involved in strikes that have occurred.

Further, the great majority of strikes now are due to union organization efforts rather than wages. Third, as a result of public satisfaction over the government's wage policy, the opportunities for agitators have greatly decreased. Workers and public generally are regarding the labor organizers and agitator as a public enemy, the magazine says.

Former Escanaba Man With Housing Project

Charles F. Jaeger, who left Escanaba 20 years ago and eventually entered the contracting business in Detroit, is the superintendent of the P. J. Currier Lumber company of Detroit, which recently was low bidder on the Wayne county housing project by $431,000 but was not awarded the contract.

The Currier company bid is scheduled to be one of the principal topics to be covered in testimony before the senate defense investigating committee in Washington this week, beginning Wednesday. The committee will seek a showdown on the government's labor policies in the construction field by calling Sidney Hillman, John L. Lewis and William Green for joint testimony.

Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers, has charged that the award has not been made to Currier because the firm employs CIO labor. He asserted recently that a stabilization agreement Hillman signed with the AFL, of which Green is president, in effect created a "monopoly" for the AFL in defense building.

Opposed by AFL

Currier testified last week that he was able to offer a bid of $979,500, compared with $1,410,500 for the next lowest, because he employed labor on a yearly basis, with much of the work done on "assembly lines" rather than at the site of construction. He said the AFL had opposed such methods strenuously.

Jaeger, who is the son of Mrs. Emily Jaeger, 223 South Nineteenth street, is credited with being the originator of the idea of mass production of homes for defense purposes.

Recently interviewed by a Detroit newspaper reporter, Jaeger said that after the foundation of a house has been constructed it would be possible to have the shell of the home erected in 24 hours, and the interior completely finished in a week's time, if desired. He has developed seven models, and patents are pending on his method of construction. He calls them "factory constructed homes".

One of his models is 24 feet by 28 feet. Like the others, it is a frame building. It has four rooms, two of them bedrooms and bath, with space in the attic, which is floored for 2 future rooms. Only three workmen are needed to assemble the factory built home, Jaeger explains.

Like Auto Factory

At the Currier factory, there are carriages, jigs and fixtures similar to an automobile factory assembly line. Standard doors, windows and other materials are used. At the factory the various sections are put together.

A truck with a hoist takes these sections to the site and swings them on the foundation. The workmen anchor the floor sections. In an hour or so the truck arrives with the side walls. By noon they are in place.

In the early afternoon of the same day, the third step is taken. This is the placing of the roof and gables. The roof consists of four front panels and four rear panels, equipped with asphalt shingles at the factory, and with the chimney aperture cut in. No scaffolding is needed. The hoist swings the sections into the place.

John Seidl Rites Will Be Conducted Wednesday Morning

The body of John W. Seidl, 43, of 912 Third Avenue South, well known Escanaba barber and president of Hiawatha Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who was killed in an automobile accident on Lake Shore Drive near the Escanaba Athletic Field Saturday night, is resting in state at the Allo Funeral Home chapel.

Services will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., officiating, and burial will be in Riverside cemetery in Menominee. Pallbearers will be members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the Disabled American Veterans.

Mr. Seidl was born in Menominee, February 14, 1898, and had made his home in Escanaba for the past eighteen years. He enlisted in the service in the World War, on December 20, 1915, as a member of Company L, 125th Infantry, which for a time was stationed at Escanaba. He served overseas in the famous battles of Chateau Tierry, Belse and Soissons, and was wounded at Soissons, suffering a shell concussion. He was discharged from the service on April 14, 1919.

He was active in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans.

Surviving are his wife, four children, Irene Jane, Marlene Rose, John Gilbert and Doris Bernice; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Seidl of Menominee; and three brothers, Joseph W. Seidl, of Wausau, Wis., and Richard C. and Antone of Menominee.

HENRY J. RYAN DIES SUDDENLY

Escanaba Man Stricken While Fishing At Nahma

Henry J. (Harry) Ryan, 53, of 412 South Fifteenth street, died suddenly at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, while fishing from the Nahma coal dock. He collapsed without warning and was dead before a physician could be summoned. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death.

Mr. Ryan, a life-long resident of Escanaba, was born here June 18, 1888. He was employed as a blacksmith helper for the Chicago & North Western Railway. He served during the World war with the 113th Spruce Squadron in the state of Washington, and he was a member of Cloverland Post, No. 82, of the American Legion.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anna Genesse Ryan, and the following brothers and sisters: Edward of Escanaba; Mrs. Fred Lentz, Kenosha, Wis.; Miss Katherine of Milwaukee; Leo, Frank and Joseph of Milwaukee and George of St. Mateo, Calif.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home where it will rest in state beginning Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., officiating, and burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Cloverland Post No. 82, American Legion, will have charge of military rites at funeral.

Some Frozen Fish May Be Revived

Fish can remain alive and be revived when they are "frozen stiff" but not when they are "frozen solid."

This is the opinion handed down by Dr. Albert S. Hazzard, director of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research, who often is called upon to serve as arbiter of arguments among anglers of the hot stove league.

Occasionally winter fishermen find that fish caught through the ice and "frozen stiff" from lying on the ice an hour or two when the temperature is just below freezing will revive when placed in water indoors. According to Dr. Hazzard, dissection shows that though the moisture on the outside of these fish and even the outer part of their flesh freezes, their blood vessels have not been frozen.

Fish exposed to temperatures of 10 degrees or more below freezing for more than an hour, however, do not revive in water. Dissection shows they actually have been "frozen solid," and that many of the vessels are ruptured by the freezing of the blood.

Winter anglers, to win their arguments, must watch their words.

Wells Man Fined $50 On Charge Of Drunken Driving

William Minor, 41, Wells, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs and had his driver's license revoked by Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette.

He was arrested Sunday by city police officers.

The Escanaba Daily Press
Dear Sir:

The entire nation, as well as the railroad workers, will benefit if they get the wage increases which they are requesting. That can be proved by simple arithmetic.

The railroads are handling more traffic now than they ever did in their history, and they are doing it with a million fewer employes then they had 20 years ago.

This tremendous increase in railroad efficiency is partly due to improved equipment, partly to improved management, and partly to increased efficiency of the railroad workers. Regardless of the cause, however, the fact is that the number of rail employes was reduced from over 2,000,000 in 1920 to about 1,000,000 in 1940, and the total amount paid in rail wages and salaries was likewise cut in half.

The result is that nearly $2,000,000,000, which used to be paid every year in railroad wages and salaries, is not paid now. There is no theory about this. All these figures are on record and none of them are disputed by anyone.

In short, the increased efficiency of the railroads and their employes has, in 20 years, destroyed a million jobs and nearly two billion dollars in wages — thus greatly adding to unemployment and greatly subtracting from purchasing power.

In all other industries, the same process has been going on—the individual worker producing more and more because of increasing efficiency—with the result that fewer and fewer workers are employed and a smaller and smaller amount is paid out in wages. This "progress" is probably inevitable and it has its good points, but it produces vast unemployment and constantly reduces the mass purchasing power which is necessary to sustain our modern mass production.

We have seen the result in the past ten years of depression. We will see them again after the defense boom ends, unless remedies are found and applied.

The only possible remedies are shorter working hours, to provide more jobs, and higher wage rates, to provide more purchasing power.

The railroad workers are not asking for shorter hours, but they are asking for reasonable wage increases, well within the ability of the carriers to grant.

Incidentally, the proposed rail wage raises will help to prevent a post-war depression, and thus will benefit the entire country.

Yours truly

Federal Agencies Concerned Over Disputes In Michigan Factories

BY T. E. APPLEGATE

Detroit, Oct. 18 (AP)—Michigan labor disputes with alarming effects on defense production drew quick attention this week from federal agencies concerned with averting threats to the nation's armament effort.

The National Defense Mediation Board, U. S. Department of Labor and Office of Production Management(took active parts in attempting to settle inter-union jurisdictional fights threatening army tank production and shipment of vital defense material, and a wage dispute that might cut into production of the small reconnaissance cars the army calls "jeeps."

At the request of the mediation board the United Automobile Workers (CIO) called off a strike at the Hillsdale Steel Products Co. plant and cleared the way for resumption of work at Toledo's Spicer Manufacturing Company where 70 per cent of the transmissions for army tanks are produced.

Hillsdale Plant Running

The Hillsdale factory, where the UAW-AFL holds bargaining rights continued operating despite the CIO strike, but CIO employes at Toledo refused, under their contract there, to work on material from Hillsdale as long as the strike was recognized by their union.

Labor department conciliators were active in a wage dispute attending a UAW-CIO strike at the Midland Steel Products Co. in Cleveland which supplies steel frames to automobile makers and to producers of "jeeps" at Toledo. Shortage of frames already had forced layoff of 7,000 Hudson Motor Car workers and 6,000 Studebaker workers. Continuation of the strike could cause similar difficulty in the Buick Division of General Motors. Union and company agreed on wage increases for some 1,100 workers; holding up the settlement was a dispute over rates for 342 employes.

Wildcat strikes, recurrent in both plants, halted operations at the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant and the neighboring mills of the Great Lakes Steel Corp.

Ford strikes heeded the appeals of union leaders and returned to their jobs the same day they walked out, but the steel workers continued their defiance — even in the face of warnings from Orville Kincaid, district director of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee-CIO, that such a course would lead to the discharge of strike leaders. Both plants have vital defense contracts.

A representative of the ordnance section of OPM came to Detroit and warned of the effects on the defense program of a dispute between two AFL unions — the Teamsters and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks—that has halted shipments of the Railway Express Agency here.

Arms Plant Hindered

He said the stoppage 'has tied up highly important specialized parts and tools, sent by express because of the necessity for speedy delivery." Loss of a shipment from an Ecorse, Mich., firm to a Saugatuck, Mich., factory, he disclosed, may soon affect production of 40-millimeter Bofors guns in a Hamilton, Ont., armament factory.

Further labor complications may be in the making, it appeared, in National Labor Relations Board elections ordered for Oct. 29 in 14 Ford Motor Company "feeder plants" in small Michigan communities. In most of them the UAW-CIO, which has a closed shop contract at Ford's huge Rouge plant, and the AFL federal labor unions are competing for representation rights.

Speculation has been roused whether, if the AFL should win some of the small units, CIO workers at the Rouge plant would handle parts produced by the AFL workers. A number of AFL workers in a small plant at Novi, Mich., which supplies Ford parts recently joined the CIO union after threats were reported that the Rouge Ford workers would decline to handle AFL-produced parts.

Parks Attendance Near 1937 High

Lansing—Michigan state parks attendance for 1941, now within striking distance of the all-time high of 9,600,000 set in 1937, already has surpassed final figures for national parks, a comparison of latest statistics issued by the national parks service and the state conservation department's parks division reveals.

With unseasonably warm weather still attracting persons to state parks, the most recent count sets the season's attendance at 9,408,000—exceeding by more than a million the national parks attendance of 8,388,000. The 1941 attendance in Michigan state parks also numbers over a million more persons than visited these same parks in 1940.

According to the national parks report, Isle Royale, the only full-fledged national park in Michigan, attracted 7,250 visitors this year. Use of Waterloo and Yankee Springs recreational areas was not tabulated in the federal report.

Congress turned down beavers, rattlesnakes, pine trees and anchors before settling on the bald eagle for the symbol of strength and freedom in the seal of the United States of America.

DART CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE

Will Have Hearing Here Tuesday Morning, October 28

Peter Dart, 31, of 321½ South Ninth street, was charged with negligent homicide yesterday, the outcome of an automobile collision on Lake Shore Drive just north of the Escanaba Athletic Field which took the life of John Seidl, 912 Third avenue south, local barber and president of the Hiawatha Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Dart pleaded not guilty to the charge and asked for a preliminary hearing which was set by Justice of the Pease Henry Ranguette for Tuesday, October 28, at 10 a. m. He was released on $2000 bond.

Mrs. Seidl, who was with her husband at the time of the accident, received a number of bruises and cuts about the face and body but otherwise was not seriously injured.

The collision occurred about 11:40 o'clock. Seidl was driving south and Dart north toward the city.

Police officers said that tire marks indicated Seidl's car rolled sideways after the impact and that its occupants were evidently thrown from the machine.

Seidl died as he was being taken to St. Francis hospital.

PEACH PITS FOR FUEL

A man in San Leandro, Calif., has operated a thriving business for the past 11 years buying peach pits from canneries. He sells them to the public for 10 cents for a large gunny sackful. The peach pits ignite easily, burn for a long time, and produce an intense heat. They are said to be as good as hard coal for fuel.

Job's Daughters Complete Plans For Ceremonial

Reservations for the dinner which will be served Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple in honor of Glenna Hagle, of Pontiac, Grand Guardian of Job's Daughters, who will conduct a school of inspection of Gladstone Bethel, No. 8, and Escanaba Bethel, No. 9, that evening, must be in by noon today.

Mrs. Harvey Germanson, 911-W, and Mrs. D. A. Northrup, 744-M, are in charge of the reservations.

The dinner at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening will be followed by a special ceremonial. During the evening, Mrs. Hazel Cowens of Gladstone will be installed as a member of the Grand Council and Miss Alma Suter will be installed as a Grand Senior Custodian.

Members of both Bethels and their parents and Guardians are cardially invited to attend the dinner and the evening ceremonial.

REVIVED MIDDY STYLES

If you're planning to make a whole collection of the newly revived middy blouses for campus wear, you can achieve unusual braid effects with your own sewing machine if you use the modern sewing attachments. Use the blind-stitch attachment to apply the braid. Try covering the entire square sailor collar with rows of shoe-string braid, stitched about one inch apart. Remember to square each row at the back with mitered corners. Navy rating emblems add an authentic fashion touch on middy blouses. You can applique your own embroidered stars on the collar in bright colors with the aid of the little zigzagger attachment. If you have never done work of this kind on your machine, your local sewing center can instruct you.

Harvest vegetables are a blessing to our budget menus. Harvest fruits bring health and pleasure to our tables at reasonable cost. Try to use as many local fruits and vegetables as possible. They cost less.

VEGETABLE PLATE WITH CHEESE SAUCE

(Six Servings)

One head of cauliflower, 6 tomatoes, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter, melted; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 cups whole kernel corn, 1 egg, beaten; ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, one No. 2 can whole green string beans, 1 tablespoon butter.

Place cauliflower in a 2-quart glass saucepan, partly cover with boiling water. Cook uncovered for 15 to 18 minutes or until tender. Add salt. Remove center from each tomato; thoroughly mix together onion, butter, pepper, corn, egg and seasonings. Fill the centers of each tomato with this mixture. Place in layer cake pan and make in moderate over (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Heat string beans in their own juice. Add one tablespoon butter. Drain cauliflower in resistant platter. Arrange tomatoes around the outside of platter with string beans between each tomato, and serve with cheese sauce.

CHEESE SAUCE

Two tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 cups grated cheese, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, remove from heat, blend in flour. Return to the range and add milk a small amount at a time, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook about 5 minutes longer until no starchy taste remains. Stir in grated cheese, parsley and salt. Serve at once.

An excellent way to get whole grain food, rich in B-1 and thiamin, into the diet, is to serve bran dumplings with inexpensive lamb stew made with breast and shoulder cuts.

BRAN DUMPLINGS

(Six Servings)

One cup sifted flour, 1 cup bran, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 cup milk. Mix together well the dry ingredients. Cut in fat, add milk, stirring quickly to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls on top of stew, making sure dough rests on pieces of meat or vegetables. Cover and cook 15 to 18 minutes.

GRAY IS IMPORTANT FALL FASHION COLOR

For these first cool fall days, the suit's the thing. And gray, often considered a spring color, shows up importantly right now. Joan Bennett, screen actress, selects for town street wear an expertly tailored suit of soft gray tweed bound with a darker shade of gray at hemline, neck and wrist. The jacket is without lapels and has four patch pockets, on one of which Miss Bennett likes to wear a very special pin or clip. Accessories of light brown alligator are very smart wtih gray, and a profile hat of the same shade of light brown.

A total of 81 million cars had been produced in U. S. up to end of 1940.

Dorothy Erickson Is the Bride Of Robert Van Effen

Palms and white chrysanthemums, lilies and pompons in tall vases, over which was shed the soft glow of candles burning in tall candelabra formed the setting in Immanual Lutheran church Saturday, October 18, for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Ruth Erickson, of 1228 Sheridan Road, daughter of Mrs. Emil O. Erickson and the late Captain Erickson, to Corporal Robert Francis Van Effen, of Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., son of Mrs. Frank Van Effen of 517 North 20th street.

The service was read at high noon by Rev. L. R. Lund in the presence of the families and a large assemblage of friends of the couple.

Mrs. Lund sang "O Promise Me" just before the service, and a verse of "O Perfect Love," as the young people knelt at the altar for the exchange of vows. The traditional processional and recessional marches were played by Miss Ruby Arnsen.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Ann Erickson, a close friend, who was maid of honor, and her junior bridesmaid was her cousin, Jean Meredith Erickson. William Van Effen, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushering were Robert S. Erickson, brother of the bride, and Robert W. Loodeen, a close friend.

Bride in White Satin

The bride wore a lovely Empire model of gleaming white satin, styled with a sweetheart neckline, bishop sleeves that tapered to the wrist and a full skirt, which formed a long train. Her veil of illusion was gathered to a coronet of orange blossoms, and a border of rose pointe lace extended over her shoulders and around the full length of the train. She carried a shoulder bouquet of lilies and white pompons. Her maid of honor and junior bridesmaid wore frocks of identical style, the maid of honor's of fragrance rose slipper satin, and the bridesmaid's of green leaf slipper satin. The frocks were made with Empire bodice, draped sleeves and full sweeping skirts. Both attendants wore coronets of pink pompons and carried pink roses and pompons.

Mrs. Erickson, mother of the bride, who was seated in one of the front pews reserved for the families, wore a becoming dress of soldier blue with a shoulder corsage of pink roses and pink pompons and Mrs. Van Effen wore a dress of wine shade with a like corsage.

A wedding dinner for twenty guests was served at the Ludington hotel, the all-white table appointments centered by a four-tiered wedding cake. Following the dinner a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Captain and Mrs. Daniel S. Erickson, of 1115 Second avenue north. The home was beautifully decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and pompons. The wedding cake graced the center of the table, at which Miss Agnes Olson, a close friend of the bride, presided. Rev. and Mrs. Lund were among the guests at the reception, and Mrs. Lund, upon request, sang Carrie Jacobs-Bond's "I Love You Truly."

Guests at Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Van Effen left on a wedding trip, their destination unannounced, the bride, for traveling, wearing a suit of wine shade with brown accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Escanaba high school, class of 1938, has been employed by the Hoyler Baking company for the past three years. Mr. Van Effen is a corporal attached to the Quartermaster Corps, United States Army, at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

Guests at the wedding included Mrs. Cornelius Pedersen, of Dazey, North Dakota, a great aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Johnson, of Gladstone, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom.

In water power capacity, California ranks first among the states.

County Council Meeting Thursday

The first meeting of the County Council will be held at Schaffer at 8 p. m. Thursday, October 23.

A meeting was tentatively arranged for September but was given up because of the proximity of the regional meeting held in Escanaba early in October. The new units are asked to come prepared to pay their dues, which will greatly facilitate the bookkeeping. Mrs. I. R. Nelson, president, will give a report on the president and membership conferences that she attended at the state convention. A large attendance is hoped for, especially as one of the four meetings of the sason has been lost.

Church Events

Deer Head and Bear Skin Buyers Few

Lansing—Mounted deer heads and bearskins still are much in demand for adorning the hunter's own den, basement recreation room or cabin wall, but they no longer have the commercial value they once possessed. To inquirers wishing to sell them, as the law allows, the conservation department is now forced to reply each season that there are few or no takers for other men's trophies.

Taxidermists and tanners, both whom have conservation department permits to work with game animals, report most of their work with deer and bear is not commercial, but is done for the hunter who has personal reasons for preserving examples of his prowess.

Housewives have condemned bear rugs as dirt catchers and bearskin robes went out with the horse-drawn sleigh. Buckskin jackets and gloves, once quite the style, are now affected chiefly by hunters who have had tanned and made up the hides of deer they have killed themselves. Opening of the season on does this fall may accelerate the demand for these hides, however, for doeskin is softer and more pliable than buckskin.

Popularity of fly-tying as an indoor winter sport for fishermen and as a business venture has resulted in a much greater demand for buck tails than for buck heads. For the hollow hair in one buck tail the fly and bait making concerns will pay from 15 to 50 cents.

WALTER TAYLOR

HAROLD BRICK

The sedan in which Walter Taylor, 26, and Harold Brick, 34, were killed early Sunday morning when it collided with another machine driven by Willie Courier, 31, of 1516 Washington avenue, on highway U. S. 2 and 41 near the old airport, was almost completely demolished.

Taylor was killed instantly and Brick died of his injuries about 12 hours later in St. Francis hospital.

Courier faces a charge of negligent homicide and will have a hearing next Thursday morning before Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette.

Girl motorcycle dispatch riders are in the army of Northern Ireland now, it is reported in Belfast. The girls are attached to a motor company of the Army Transport Section, and although the first recruits numbered only 25 the contingent is growing. A standard army motorcycle is handled as efficiently by the girls as it is by the men.

TULIPS GROWN IN PENINSULA

Climatic Conditions Are Ideal For Raising Holland Bulbs

With the importation of tulip bulbs from Holland cut off by the war, organization of a company for the purpose of growing bulbs in the Upper Peninsula indicates that the import loss will be partly offset by domestic products.

Experimental work carried out by Paul R. Krone, of Michigan State college, during the past three years indicates that climatic and soil conditions in the Upper Peninsula are ideal for the culture of bulbs. Not only have better crops been obtained in the Upper Peninsula but the bulbs are of excellent quality, producing heavy skins and high quality flowers for garden use and greenhouse forcing.

Will Plant 15 Acres

The company will plant approximately 15 acres, 1,400,000 tulip bulbs, at Trenary, 12 miles south of Chatham. It is anticipated the planting will be highly colorful next spring since nearly three-quarters of the bulbs planted will be of blooming size.

Directors of the company include W. A. Nieuwenhuis, a large bulb grower from Kalamazoo; Paul R. Krone, R. R. Hawley, of Ionia, and Peter Lubin, of Lapeer, and James H. Dale, Copper Country florist.

The trials during the past three years indicate that bulbs fully as good as those imported can be grown here. The long cool spring and growing temperatures that are favorable to the best development, following flowering, are the conditions credited with prolonging the excellent results.

Experimental Plantings

The experimental work is being conducted in the Upper Peninsula by Mr. Krone, who has made plantings at Escanaba, Ironwood, Chatham, Jacobsville, Sault Ste. Marie and Cheboygan for the current season. Other commercial plantings are being made at Chatham this fall, including a five-acre planting on the experiment station farm made by Mr. Nieuwenhuis for display purposes, also a three-acre planting near Eben by U. Nagle, another bulb grower from Kalamazoo.

Did you ever make
GRIDDLE CAKES
with KARO in 'em?

Of course, you use Karo on pancakes and waffles — everybody does! But have you tried putting a little Karo in your pancake or waffle batter? You'll love the extra flavor and smoothness this little trick adds.

KARO PANCAKES
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tsp. baking powder
2 tbsp. Karo (blue label)
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. melted butter
1⅓ cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Sift and measure flour. Sift together with baking powder and salt. Stir milk, Karo, and butter into eggs. Add flour mixture (small amount at a time), and beat until smooth. Pour batter on preheated griddle, allowing space in bottom to spread. Allow about 2 tbsp. of batter for each cake. Bake until golden brown. Turn, and cook until brown on other side. Serve at once with hot Karo (blue label). Makes 10 pancakes, about 4½ inches in diameter.

Auto Dealers Foresee Demand For Used Cars

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, Oct. 18—(The Special News Service)—Prices are higher, taxes have been increased, trade allowances are on an unusually conservative basis, production volume is surrounded by more uncertainties than ever . . . and nobody knows whether a shortage of new cars actually is a near-future possibility . . .

That's the situation in the motorcar industry at the moment and it doesn't contribute anything to the improvement of new car distribution. All the nation's 1942 model passenger cars have been presented formally to the public and except for an individual model or two in the lines of a very limited number of manufacturers, prices have gone up sharply from last year's initial listings.

Urge to Make Profit

From all sources the retail automobile merchandiser is being urged to make a full profit on every new car transaction and to handle no used units that cannot be sold at a price that will compensate for the time required to recondition and deliver them to other buyers.

In this connection it is noteworthy that a majority of all new car sales involve a trade-in and the competitive experience of recent years has been that to clinch sales dealers have had to stretch allowances to the limit.

Unless the next few weeks piles up unsold new cars in dealers' stocks, there will be little disposition among the merchandisers to offer the high trade-in allowances that marked the model period just ended. On the other hand, the average automobile dealer cannot afford to carry new cars in stock indefinitely any more than he can tie up a large part of his capital in used cars that do not move out readily.

Correct or not, most dealers believe that soon or later they will have difficulty obtaining deliveries from the factory; that means the loss of business to competitors or to the used car lots as the retailing division authorities figure it.

Used Cars to Sell

The used car lots, incidentally, are not an inexhaustible source of supply for vehicles that cannot be purchased new. It is true that sizable stocks of used vehicles are on hand in most localities. In some localities the supply is even heavier than is customary at this period of the automotive year.

But the increased federal excise tax on new cars along with the advance in the manufacturers' list price is bound to be reflected in a marked upsurge of demand for second hand units. Additional impetus will be given this demand should there be a further drastic curtailment in new passenger car production. That, according to authoritative sources here, is distinctly more than a possibility.

One leading authority among the car merchandisers has asserted that a complete suspension of new passenger vehicle production would result in the exhaustion of used car stocks in less than 60 days. Complete suspension of car production probably is an overly-pessimistic view of the prospects for the latter half of the current model year, but most authorities expect the making of new passenger units to taper off rapidly in the period between March 1 and July 31 next year.

Reservists called up in New Zealand are sometimes forced to sell their one-man business for a song, it is reported in Wellington. When the owner is drafted absurdly small offers are made for his business, it is charged. A reservist testified before the Armed Forces Appeal Board that he had received three offers of this nature within a short time.

GOLD MINING MAY RESUME

Calumet And Hecla Co. Is Interested In Ropes Mine

Ishpeming—Interest in gold mining on the Ishpeming district was renewed here this week as steps were taken for dissolution of the Ishpeming Gold Mining company, by transfer of its stocks, on a share for share basis, for Calumet and Hecla stock.

The Calumet and Hecla previously owned a controlling interest in the property.

While there were many rumors of what might follow as a result of this action, no official statement was forthcoming.

It has been known that for some years Calumet and Hecla was interested in the Ishpeming Gold Mining company, which holds the lease to the old Ropes gold mine, about four miles north of the city.

In 1927 Frank Lundin and Albert Bjork, of Ishpeming, acquired control, through lease, of a tract of land north of the city which included the site of the old Ropes. For four years they maintained the provisions of the lease and in 1932 organized the Ishpeming Gold Mining company. Some stock was taken at that time by C. and H., this later being extended to become a majority interest.

Attorneys for the Calumet and Hecla were in the city this week arranging for the transfer, picking up gold mining stock certificates and arranging for their replacement with C. and H. stock.

LATE SELLING CRIMPS STOCKS

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Stocks tried to continue the recovery push in today's market, but ran into enough late selling interference to produce a mixed close.

There were a few weak and strong spots when the final gong sounded although price variations generally were in negligible fractions.

While the inflation prop remained as a bullish influence, brokers said, many potential purchasers adjourned to neutral territory pending more light on the international scene, particularly in Russia and the Far East.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 41. Transfers totalled 618,990 shares, compared with 670,101 Friday.

Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common and preferred were up 2½ and 1 point, respectively, at new 1941 highs, as reports of possibly boosted dividends were heard. The better position of the petroleum industry lifted Standard Oil (N. J.) a point. Du Pont was up 1¾.

Ahead modest amounts were Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Atlantic Coast Line and Chesapeake & Ohio. Mounting traffic and revenues brought support for this group.

United Corp. came out in one block of 143,600 shares, off 1-8 at ¼, a new year's bottom. Commonwealth & Southern also was lively at a minor decline. Westinghouse and U. S. Gypsum went into new low ground for the year.

U. S. Steel and Bethleehm were down slightly as this week's mill operations were estimated off .6 point at 97.8 per cent of capacity.

General Motors was up 1-8 and Chrysler off as much. A shade higher were American Smelting, Consolidated Aircraft (ex-dividend on the share-for-share splitup), Texas Corp., Montgomery Ward and U. S. Rubber.

In arrears were Anaconda, Kennecott, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Air Reduction and International Harvester.

Among curb gainers were Gulf Oil, American Cyanamid "B", Brewster Aero, Glen Alden Coal and International Petroleum.

C.Y.O. Party

Members of the Catholic Youth Organization, chaperoned by Fr. Donnelly, enjoyed a party at the George Boudreau camp Thursday night. After playing games they had refreshments of hamburgers, buns, cookies and coffee.

Jolly Eight Party

Mrs. Joe Duschene entertained the Jolly Eight Club at her home Monday evening. First prize was won by Mrs. Roland Beeck and low by Mrs. Ernest Tatrow. Luncheon was served after play.

P.T.A. Meeting

The first meeting of the season was opened by saluting the flag of the U. S. A. and then the president, Harry Greene, called for the minutes of the meeting held last May. After these were approved John Kelly of Manistique was called upon to address the meeting. He prefaced his remarks by saying that children are a parents most precious possessions and pointed out how parents may band together with those who have their direction outside of the home, to best care for the building of character. Mrs. Christian Riegel of Escanaba took up these thoughts and referring to the problems which are present in every community, called upon the audience to give utterance to some of these. One major problem was stated and other lesser ones and Mrs. Riegel urged that the local unit get after these to correct as soon as possible. Mrs. I. R. Nelson, president of the County Council, spoke of things relative to her office and urged that members of this unit attend the Council meeting to be held at Schaffer, at 8 p. m. Thursday evening, Oct. 23.

Mrs. Alfred La Valle made announcements with reference to whooping cough injections and a free clinic to be held for children of preschool age. Further definite information will be given in a few days. Mrs. Hazel Hazen, WPA recreation director announced that she had purchased toys with which children will be amused while awaiting their turn at these clinics.

Mrs. Riegel installed the officers as follows—Harry Greene, president; Mrs. Alfred La Valle and Mrs. Kreshefsky, vice presidents; Mrs. Albin Berg, treasurer; Charles Gauthier, Secretary and Mrs. Roland Boudreau, historian. At the close of business Mrs. Hazen directed two games which resulted in prizes for Mrs. Alpha Thibault and Mrs. Roland Boudreau.

Pumpkin pie and coffee was served in the hot lunch kitchen. Mrs. Riegel's daughter, Mrs. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Cochran of Manistique were in attendance.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 20 (AP)—Unsettled and nervous because of the disturbed international situation, grain prices displayed marked weakness today.

Uncertainty was apparent from the outset of trading. Talk had been current in the board rooms and on the trading floor that prices should start about steady with Saturday's close. Instead, steady and persistent selling forced prices backward until losses of 2½ cents a bushel were marked in wheat in the first ten minutes.

NAMED POTATO QUEEN

Newberry—Helen Bergstrom of Pentland township, elected queen of the Luce county Potato Show in Lakefield township on Oct. 9, will represent Luce county at the Upper Peninsula Potato Show to be held in Marquette on Oct. 21, 22, and 23. Miss Bergstrom will vie for the honor of being Upper Peninsula Potato Queen. Luce county Queen Helen, who lives on a farm south of Newberry, is 17 years of age and a junior in Newberry high school. She was one of seven Luce count queen candidates at the Lakefield show. Other candidates were: Lena Frisk, Dorothy Norman, Anna Lackeym, Gladys Smith, Bernadine Ford, and Lelia Cassabo.

Hermansville

Bridge Club Meets

Hermansville, Mich. — Mrs. George Daniels entertained her bridge club at a delightful party in her home Monday evening. Prizes were won by Miss Elsie Guimond, Mrs. Roscoe Taylor and Miss Olive Marcoe. Miss Elsie Guimond will entertain the club Monday evening, October 20.

Book Club Elects Officers

Gloria Dani, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dani was elected president of the Hermansville high school book club. The other officers are Gloria Sturm, vice president; Shirley Harrington, treasurer; Eleanore Picard, secretary, and Miss Marie Nadeau, advisor.

The purpose of the club is to distribute to the students the world's best books at prices within the reach of the students. The students pay for four books and they get the fifth one free.

June Fish Honored

Miss June Fish, who left this week for lower Michigan to be married, was honored this week at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Fish. About forty persons were present. Games were played with awards going to Mrs. Walter Fish, Mrs. Louis Raiche, Mrs. Edward Lynch, and Mrs. Roy Leger.

High School Potato Club

The Hermansville high school potato club took part in the county potato show held at Stephenson on Friday. The officers of the club are Robert Nelson, president; Wallace Juneau, vice president; and William Allen, secretary and treasurer. Glen Wery served as their club leader during the summer and Quentin Peterson of the local high school faculty is now in charge of the boys.

Local Couple Returns From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William Eisenzoph returned Sunday, October 12 from a 6,600 mile auto trip through the West in which they travelled through 15 states and into Mexico. Enroute they visited with relatives and friends and they made stops at the Black Hills of South Dakota; Sault Lake City, Utah; the Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon in Colorado; as well as at Los Angeles, San Diego, California, and at Catalina Island.

On their return trip they visited at the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, and at the University of Nebraska where Mrs. Eisenzoph formerly attended. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenzoph reported the roads all in excellent condition and they only had four days of rain in the time they were gone which is some contrast to the deluge of rain that has fallen in the last month in Hermansville and vicinity.

Personals

Out of town guests at the June Fish shower last Tuesday were Mrs. Harvey Grismer, Mrs. Burle Shinn, Mrs. Edward Lynch, Mrs. Leroy Shinn and Mrs. John Dennis all of Iron Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Arne Nelmark spent the last week end with relatives in Palmer and Ishpeming.

Pvt. Joseph Urick who is stationed at Fort Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Urick.

William Kepler of Marquette was a business visitor in Hermansville on Friday.

Howard Carlson, stationed at Camp Livingston in Louisiana is spending his furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yuko Carlson.

Cliff Drury, Hi-Y leader of Detroit attended the Hi-Y conference held last Monday in the local high school.

The condition of Jerry Ayotte who was painfully injured last week when he was struck by a log while working for the local lumber company is much improved. He has a fractured leg and severe body bruises. His shoulder is not broken as first reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Evano Dani are the parents of a son born last week at their home in Hermansville.

Carl Kant and Miss Ruth Christenson visited with friends in Hermansville last week.

Mrs. Lawrence Sharkey has left for Kansas City where she will visit with her two sons Richard and Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ayotte and their son Emil Jr., returned this week from Detroit where Mr. Ayotte has been employed for the past several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Raiche and Virginia Ayotte visited with relatives and friends last week end in Rapid River.

Norman Pipkorn who is employed at Thiensville, Wis., spent last week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pipkorn.

U. P. Briefs

POTATO SHOW HELD

Menominee—Miss June Jarrett of Wallace, Stephenson High school graduate, was named potato queen at last night's Menominee county potato show at Stephenson High school gymnasium. Miss Charlotte Wangerin of Stephenson was named maid of honor. Judging was on personality and appearance.

Miss Jarrett will compete in the contest to select the upper peninsula potato queen at the U. P. potato show at Marquette October 21-23. Other girls entered in the contest were Lucy Palmer, Pearl Hartner, Mildred Nyberg, Elizabeth Forray and Dorothy Laskot, all of Stephenson, and Rosemary Rubel, Perronville.

Simon Sager of Stephenson was declared the champion potato grower of the county with a yield of 489 bushels of potatoes an acre. His yield was 20 bushels more than the 1940 championship yield of Henry P. Palmer, Lake township, last year's champion grower. Sager was awarded a trophy presented annually by the Mid-County Men's club to the table stock grower having the greatest yield per acre.

RAZING GIBOUT MILL

Menominee—The Webber Lumber company of Marinette River road is razing its Bridge street building in Menominee, where the firm has been manufacturing insulation material. The building formerly was used by the L. E. Gibout & Son as a planing mill, before the Gibout firm sold out to the Webber-Baysinger Lumber company about three years ago.

The three story building was partially destroyed in a $10,000 fire in March, 1940. The roof, third floor and part of the second floor caved in during the blaze. The Webber Lumber company then took it over and built a temporary roof over the structure, using it to manufacture insulation material. A second building on the property is being used for storage of lumber.

The Gibout company occupied the building for 28 years before moving to their present location at 1520 Ogden avenue, where the firm manufacturers millwork.

LONSDORF WAS ACTIVE

Iron Mountain—After spending 112 days in his office and 181½ days in the field, attending 173 meetings with a total of 4,989 persons, interviewing 2,547 persons in his office, mailing 1,645 special farm bulletins, answering 1,078 telephone calls and writing 835 individual letters, there is a wistful note about the closing paragraph of the annual report submitted by Art Lonsdorf, county agricultural agent. It reads, "and many other jobs too numerous to mention."

More than $15,000 worth of bedding—mattresses and comforters—were produced by low-income farm families of the county under two extension projects.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: School teacher Mary O'Connor's heart goes out to young Jeanie Morris, left alone with stern but kindly old Liza Holmes, maid, by the mysterious murder of her aunt, Miss Millie. This, and the earlier murder of handsome Herbert Cord, who had courted Jeanie for two summers only to bring Margie Dixon to Paradise Lake this year as his fiancee, have the quiet resort agog. Miss Millie had been one of its oldest residents, along with innkeeper Chris Gordon. Maudie, Mary's mother, pooh-poohs the inquest's conclusion that gangster Stush Veretti murdered Cord, although reporter Dennis Flynn, an old flame of Mary's assigned to the case, is inclined to believe he did. Maudie discovered both bodies, and Mary and Dennis feel she knows more than she is revealing. Jeanie tells Mary of a mysterious romance in Miss Millie's past. Then they talk of local editor Tod Palmer, obviously interested in Jeanie.

* * *

CHRIS GORDON'S VISIT
CHAPTER XII

Maudie was getting back to her old self, but it didn't take too much coaxing to keep her in bed for another day. The past week had really given her enough thrills for a while and I guess she realized she wasn't as young and chipper as she would have liked to believe.

She still refused to discuss the finding of the boat and Miss Morris. "There's nothing more to tell," she answered tartly. "I've told you again and again all there is to tell." Denny and I didn't believe her.

She was abrupt with us both and became more petulant every time he reported new developments. The police in town had put Stush Veretti through a tough grilling, but there was still no confession. Additional people had been found who had seen him around the lake the evening of the crime—a gas station attendant, a lunch room clerk, and a farm boy who had given him directions. Denny said they'd undoubtedly hold him even though they hadn't found the gun that had fired the .32 slug into Herbert Cord's back.

To be sure, the murder of Miss Millie had, to put it mildly, thrown the Cord case into some confusion. The State Police felt they had things nearly solved until the second murder and then, Denny confessed, they were faced with two possibilities.

"There may be two seperate and distinct killings. And coming at the same time and place may be just coincidence. Stush could still have rubbed Cord out, and then someone else put the K. O. on Miss Morris, or a nut is wandering around loose and knocked them both off."

Either possibility was unpleasant to contemplate and I wished something would happen to bring about a speedy solution. The second killing had resulted in a nice state of hysteria around the lake. The gloomy weather the past day hadn't helped people's nerves either.

* * *

The cottagers were locking shutters and doors at night and carrying old-fashioned hunting guns on their nightly walks to and from bridge parties and the few picnics the younger set staged.

Things must be dull, I thought, when Chris Gordon came to the house with some mail which I hadn't gotten around to pick up that morning. I could imagine that the guests at the inn found the atmosphere anything but festive or vacation-gay, with police and reporters making it a headquarters.

"Heard your mother wasn't feeling so good after the other night," he said, handing me the letters and papers. "Thought it might be hard for you to get down and maybe there was something important in this stuff."

"Bills, probably," I said, "but it was nice of you to think of us. Won't you come in?" I didn't expect him to, but he took off his hat and followed me into the living room where we sat and talked a while. He seemed to have a hard time following the conversation and although it wasn't hot he kept wiping his nearly bald head with a wrinkled handkerchief.

"I suppose this hasn't helped your summer business, has it?" I was finding it hard to make conversation. He sat on the edge of the chair and looked around as though he expected a murderer to leap at him from every door.

"Been a long time since I was in this cottage," he said finally, when I'd thoroughly discussed the weather, the farm crops and the political situation. "I've seen a lot of cottages go up around here during the years. Wasn't much of a colony when I first came here."

"Was the Morris residence built when you first came?"

"That's one of the oldest 'round these parts," he said.

"And did you know Miss Morris—the old one, I mean—when she was a young woman?" I asked.

He went off again into one of those abstracted streaks, but finally he seemed to remember that I had spoken. "Eh—Oh, yes, everyone knew Miss Millie around here." He reached for his hat and, taking one last mop at his head, stood up. "Anything we can do for you folks while you're here, just let us know. Always glad to oblige."

"Thanks. What with people being killed every night or so it's good to know the inn isn't too far away should one need help."

"Folks mustn't lose their heads," he warned solemnly.

"Someone around here seems glad to help do that," I said. He looked slightly shocked and went out to his car without looking back. Maudie was calling and I went to her room. She was sitting up in bed reading a magazine.

"What was that man doing here?"

"Inquiring after your health," I said. "He'd heard you were upset, and then, too, he brought the mail." I tossed it to her, but she didn't grab as usual, hunting for letters from the boys.

"Oh, so he brought the mail and came to inquire about me, did he? Now wasn't that considerate of him."

"Why, yes, I thought so," I said. "And you needn't sound so sarcastic. But then that shows you're practically well enough to get up and start hunting for another good corpse."

She moaned and sank back against the pillows. "Get out of here," she said. "Get out! I want to think."

GAINS SLIGHT ON BOND LIST

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—A moderate amount of underlying strength was shown by most divisions of the bond market today but gains were small and there were numerous issues unchanged or a shade lower at the close.

An outstanding feature of trading was the huge turnover in American Telephone debenture 3s, which accounted for $4,363,000 of the total turnoved of $10,569,900, par value. This aggregate compared with $6,559,000 Friday.

Tape watchers rubbed their eyes in astonishment when a single block of $1,766,000 par value Telephone 3s appeared at 111½ shortly after noon. Other sizable blocks were frequent throughout the afternoon climaxed by one of $900,000 just before the close at 111¼. At this price the issue was up 1-8 point net. The large volume represented sales from the unsubscribed portion of the $233,584,000 of debentures sold recently, 95.3 per cent of which was subscribed by stockholders.

Other corporate loans tacking on moderate plus signs included Wabash 4½s at 85, Nickel Plate 5½s at 73¼, New York Central 5s at 55 5-8, Lehigh Valley 4s at 82 and American & Foregn Power 5s at 65.

The newly-issued treasury 2½s of '72-'67 were admitted to stock exchange trading and ranged in price from 102 24-32 to 102 31-32, closing at the latter quotation. Other government loans were narrow on the big board, but were selectively higher over the counter.

QUOTA OF TEN FOR NOVEMBER

Selectees Will Receive Final Type Exams At Marquette

The Schoolcraft selective service board yesterday was notified that the local board will be required to send 10 men to Marquette on Tuesday, Nov. 4, for final type physical examinations by army medical examiners as a prelude to induction into the U. S. army.

The men will leave Manistique by bus at 8:30 p. m. Nov. 4 and will arrive in Marquette at 10:40 p. m. They will be given final type examinations the following day. Hotel accommodations at the Clifton Hotel will be arranged for the selectees.

The draft board announced yesterday that 12 men have tentatively been assigned, since two of the men have indicated that they will enlist in the regular army within the next several days.

The men named by the board to fill the county's quota follow: Roland Tennyson, Gulliver; Walter Solocinski, Hamtramck; James P. Smith, Germfask; Francis J. Gorsche, Benjamin Liberman, and William F. Blowers, Manistique; William E. Wilson, Cooks; Harold Chartier, George P. Rubick, Manistique; Eric J. Ostlund, Blaney, and Francis J. Lasich, Manistique.

Following the final type examination, selectees who qualify will be given from two to four weeks to arrange their affairs before induction into the service. It is likely that the Manistique contingent will be inducted Nov. 28.

Notices to report Nov. 4 for the Marquette trip will be mailed to selectees about October 29 or 30, it was announced yesterday by I. Harolde Brown, chief clerk of the local draft board.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heltman and daughter, Mary Jane, will leave Wednesday for Cleveland where they will spend a few days visiting with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Ed Grondine is a patient at the Shaw hospital.

ROAD COMISH GIVES REPORT

Financial Problems Are Outlined In Public Statement

A statement explaining the financial status of the Schoolcraft County Road commission, in the light of the request of the board of supervisors for hourly rate increases for Road Commission employes, was released yesterday by the Road Commission.

The statement follows:

It has become apparent that the presentation and later publication of the cold figures of the "Annual Report" to the Board of Supervisors, has led to some erroneous interpretations. Without some explanation, these figures developed the fallacy that the County Road commission is literally "rolling in money" while in reality, the commission is still spending a little more each year than is received durin gthe same period and is dangerously close to being financially broke at the end of each year.

A cold reading of the bare figures discloses a balance on hand at this time of $66,641.48, with $28,142.77 of this sum still tied up in the defunct Manistique Bank proceedings. This leaves an actual balance for current operations of $38,498.71 for the date of October 1, 1941.

The anticipated receipts for the balance of the year are $15,701.30 during the month of October, of which $3,560.23 belongs to the city of Manistique and $12,141.07 to the Road commission. Then in January, 1942, the final receipts for the year 1941 will be received which, if equal to that of last year, will be about $5,200 with about $1,200 going to the city and $4,000 to the county.

From all this the total available money to the County Road commission is approximately $54,600 and this must pay all expenses of the commission until the first of May when the first collection of the weight tax is expected for the year 1942.

Against this amount are all expenditures, exclusive of payments to the city, which have averaged $7,500 per month for the past 12 months. Since May 1 is the end of the year as far as receipts are concerned, there are still 7 months to operate with an estimated aggregate cost of $52,500 leaving a possible balance on May 1 of $2,100.

The amount of $7,500 per month for the past year may be broken down as follows: $3,739 for labor, $961 for equipment repair parts, $1,158 for new equipment and building repairs, and $1,642 for all other materials and expenses. In connection with this, the commission is already obligated in the amount of $11,700 for new equipment to replace old worn out units. Part of this will be paid before May 1 and the balance later.

The balance is affected by numerous conditions, none of which are exactly predictable. Among these are the stability of receipts which are dependent upon the sale of license plates for cars. It is believed that the majority of the plates bought between April 1 and July 1, and also from August 1 to January 1 are for new cars and constitute second plates for the same purchaser during the year. The receipts for this county for these periods last year were approximately $8,000 for the first and $1,000 for the second to be received in January. Any reduction in new car production will decrease these receipts more than others.

Everyone is encountering an increase in prices on materials and supplies which is not felt to quite as large an extent by the commission as others, because no taxes are paid. Last, but by no means least, is the question of expenditures created by the demand for service, especially during the winter months. The expenditures for the last 12 months included about $12,000 for snow removal and during the year 1938 approximately $24,000 was spent for the same service on a smaller mileage of road. This shows the limits within which the Road commission can predict the expenditures. We all can wish for a moderate winter such as last, but it seems too much to expect, so we must plan for an increase in severity and expense which means more labor, more material, and more equipment repairs. This item alone could very easily wipe out any balance such as indicated above, by May 1.

In regard to an increase of wages as recommended by the board of supervisors, it is found that the 21 employes to be affected would mean a total of $218 per month increase on the present 48 hour week basis, or $2.40 per week per man. It is known that the demand by the public for service and weather conditions require an extra amount of working time, and it is the policy of the commission to give this overtime to the regular employees rather than hire extra help. In this way, at the present rate of 60 cents, which is the rate of the majority of regular employees, four hours of overtime per week will balance the increase of rate suggested. It has been shown that even this amount of overtime with its accompanying increase of materials, can wipe out the expected balance. The only possible way that an increase can be granted is to reduce some other expenditure which would of necessity be labor, since all other expenses depend on amount of labor involved. Maintaining the present number of working hours as a minimum and granting a five-cent raise would necessitate the dismissal of two men in the lowest bracket, in order to maintain funds for the balance of the year, and if expected conditions develop during the next year, more drastic reductions would be necessary.

The Road commission has always been appreciative and sympathetic regarding the welfare of its employees. This is evidenced by the fact that previous to September of 1940 the standard work week consisted of 45 hours. During the fall, winter and spring, the standard was 54 hours. During the summer when a reduction was believed necessary, the standard was reduced to 48 hours, but the rate was increased five cents and a paid vacation of six days maximum was granted. In spite of its desires in the matter, the commission does not feel justified in making any changes at this time, because a reduction in crew would mean decreased service to the public and dismissal of men at this time of year would be a hardship for all concerned.

If the commission could raise the selling price of the service produced to cover the increased cost, as private industry does, many things could be accomplished.

CARS DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Drivers Fined In Court for Violation of Traffic Law

An auto driven by Ralph E. Sutherland, 705 South 17th street, Escanaba, struck a car driven by Philip Stein, 308 Stephenson avenue, Escanaba, here Sunday afternoon at the intersecsection of Delta avenue and Ninth street.

Sutherland was traveling south on the highway and had the green light with him at the crossing while Stein was traveling westward on Delta and drove through the red light, according to the police report on the accident.

Both men were arrested, Sutherland for exceeding the speed limit, and Stein for running a red light and failure to have an operator's permit.

They appeared before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson yesterday afternoon, Stein paying $4 on each of the two counts and Sutherland paying $4 on the speeding charge.

Oiva Seppela of Rock was arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor Sunday and will be arraigned tonight on that charge.

Gust F. Rengo, also of Rock, a passenger in the Seppela auto, was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness before Justice Alger Strom yesterday and paid a fine and costs totalling $17.00.

Special Meeting Of Council Tonight

A special meeting of the Manistique city council will be held this evening to act upon the city well bids, opened a week ago, City Manager P. H. Beauvais announced yesterday.

Tentative plans to hold a special meeting last night were changed because of conflict with other appointments.

The city manager conferred with state officials in Lansing over the weekend concerning the city's water well proposal and will report to the council tonight.

The manager said yesterday that preliminary efforts were made by the city to secure title to the property upon which the Hiawatha Hotel is now located. The city proposes to use the property as a neighborhood park.

Muskrat Trappers Advised Against Too Much Trapping

Lansing—Muskrat trappers are advised by conservation department game men not to let expected high fur prices influence them into overtrapping their favorite areas this fall. The game men are urging them to be sure to leave enough breeding stock for the next years.

Fur buyers are predicting higher prices because of the curtailment of foreign trade and because it is considered likely that fewer trappers will operate this fall.

Trappers are advised also that better handling of furs will pay dividends in higher market prices. Luther Baumgartner, investigating 'rat trapping for the conservation department's game division, has found that many inexperienced trappers get less than they might for their pelts because they do not know the proper way to handle them. He suggests that trappers consult frequently with fur buyers about the best means of handling the skins.

Baumgartner's investigation revealed a common fault of muskrat trappers is setting traps where the animals will not drown, thereby losing many 'rats through "wring-offs." To prevent such losses, trappers are urged to place their traps in such a way that the 'rates will drown when caught, or, if there is not sufficient water for that, to use extra-jawed or stop-loss type traps.

Muskrats may be trapped November 1-30 in the upper peninsula, November 15-December 15 in north lower Michigan, and December 1-31 in southern lower Michigan, and a month longer along the Lake Erie shore.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

The Probate Court for the County of Delta.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Escanaba, in said County, on the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1941.

Present: Hon. Frank J. Mileski, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Eva Charlotte Swenson, Deceased.

W. Arthur Swenson and Noble H. Swenson, administrators of said estate, having filed in said Court their final administration account, and their petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate.

It Is Ordered, That the thirty-first day of October, A. D. 1941, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition;

It Is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Escanaba Daily Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

FRANK J. MILESKI,
Judge of Probate.

A true copy.
MARIE D. PETERS,
Register of Probate.

YOUTH HOSTELS CARRY ON

Youth hostels are still looking after "young people" of all ages in Britain. Of 300 peacetime hostels 200 are left. Some have been commandeered for war services; some are in defense areas and cannot be used; others house evacuees. Membership is 70,000 compared with a peak of 83,000. E. St. John Catchpole, association secretary in London, says accommodations are taxed to the utmost. Many members now in uniform, especially Dutch, Belgians, Norwegians and Poles, spend their leaves in hostels.

CHARCOAL CHAIN SET UP

Australia now has a chain of sales, service and charcoal "filling stations" for automobiles operated with charcoal gas. The stations are on the highway from Melbourne to Sydney and are the forerunners of similar stations planned for every important town in Victoria, Tasmania, New South Wales and Queensland. The main highways in Victoria now have a depot every 50 miles or less where burning units for cars may be bought and serviced and quality charcoal obtained at a fixed price.

Bark River

St. George's Church Bazaar

Bark River, Mich.—The ladies of the St. George's Parish are making preparations for the annual Supper and Bazaar to be held Sunday evening, October 26.

Library Hour

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Bark River School is conducting a Library Hour at the school every Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All children of the community are invited to attend.

Mrs. A. E. Johnson and Mrs. Perry Bergman were in charge of the activities for last Saturday afternoon. Members who wish to volunteer their services as readers for the hour are asked to consult the organization's president, Mrs. Perry Bergman.

Council Meeting

A meeting of the Delta County Parent-Teachers Council will be held Thursday evening at the Schaffer school. Many members of the local unit are planning to attend.

North Star Lodge

The North Star Lodge will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Community Hall.

Personals

Francis Rousseau formerly of Bark River and who is now employed in Detroit, spent the weekend at the Arthur Rousseau home. home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Becker and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hudson of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson of this place.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Minnesota, Texas And Michigan Rated 1-2-3 In Football Poll

Duke, Navy, Fordham Placed Next In Line

BY BILL BONI

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—It was Minnesota and Texas still running one-two today as 127 of the nation's football experts scanned performances of the top college teams throughout the country and, in the second of the weekly Associated Press ranking rolls, kept these two teams at the head of the parade.

At the same time they established Saturday's clash at Ann Arbor between Michigan and Minnesota as very much the week's outstanding battle, and perhaps one of the most vital of the season. For Michigan, on the strength of its 14-7 conquest of Northwestern, was boosted from sixth place a week ago into third, only 263 points back of Minnesota.

The Standings

The standing of the teams (first-place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7-6, etc., basis):

First ten:

1—Minnesota (69)	1169
2—Texas (33)	1095
3—Michigan (7)	906
4—Duke (7)	758
5—Navy (3)	614
6—Fordham (3)	500
7—Notre Dame	354
8—Santa Clara	252
9—Texas A. and M.	243
10—Tulane (1)	220

Second ten—11, Ohio State (1), 206; Penn, 139; 13, Northwestern, 96; 14, Clemson (3), 70; 15, Vanderbilt, 62; 16, Oregon, 53; 17, Temple, 51; 18, Oregon State, 48; tier for 19, Villanova and Stanford, 24 each.

Also ran—Washington, 18; Mississippi State, 13; Georgia, 11; Southern Methodist, 10; Missouri, 9; Alabama, 8; Nebraska, 5; Texas Tech, 4; Rice, 2; Mississippi and Army, one each.

BIG ABE SIMON IS KNOCKED OUT

Lem Franklin Builds Up Claim for Chance At Louis' Title

Cleveland, Oct. 20, (AP)—Lem Franklin, 201, of Cleveland, slammed out a fifth round technical knockout of 255-pound Abe Simon of New York in their scheduled ten-round match at the Arena tonight to strengthen his claims for a chance at Joe Louis' crown.

The end came for the huge New Yorker at 1:33 of the fifth stanza after Franklin had floored him in three of the four previous rounds.

Franklin beat Louis' time with Simon by eight rounds. It took the champion till the 13th round to defeat big Abe.

The Clevelander also had finished off Tony Musto of Chicago in quicker time than the Brown Bomber—two rounds, as against Louis' nine, and Franklin's managers have served notice they will demand he be recognized as number one challenger.

Water Boy Makes Frisco U. Varsity

San Francisco, Oct. 20 (AP)—The water boy who became a varsity player provided the story of the week in west coast football.

Charley White of the University of San Francisco is the quick change artist. He donned a uniform today and henceforth will play either at halfback or end for the Universtiy of San Francisco.

During the game with Stanford last Saturday White puffed off the field with his bucket and growled at Head Coach Jeff Cravath, "I can play better than those fellows." Cravath retorted, "Why don't you show up for practice?"

Cravath promptly forgot about it as he was more concerned with the 42-26 beating Stanford was giving his team.

White showed up for practice and made the team, right then and there. He weighs 180 pounds and outsprints most of the squad.

The story would be more unusual if White had been a green hand at the game. He was a crackerjack player in high school, but had decided to forego college ball because of pressure of studies.

Zeke Bonura Out Of Army

Camp Shelby, Miss., Oct. 20 (AP)—Grinning Zeke Bonura, who spent seven years being shunted from one major league baseball club to another, was released again today — from Uncle Sam's army.

Discharged because the draft age has been lowered to 28 since his induction May 19, the 33-year-old first baseman said he expected to be back in baseball next spring.

Bonura declared tonight he planned to return to Minneapolis next year and that Mike Kelly, president of the Minneapolis club, said he would attemt to make a deal with some big league team for him.

Bonura claimed today the Chicago Cubs sold him to Minneapolis early last season "when they discovered I was going to be draft bait." He was leading the American Association in hitting and apparently headed back to the majors when the army called.

Bears, Packers Get Gridiron Wins In Pro Circuit

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—College football rivals may have found an antidote for the T-formation as displayed by Stanford, but their pro brethern can't stop the same plays as executed by the Chicago Bears.

The Bears thundered to their fourth consecutive victory in the National Professional League by crushing Detroit, 40 to 0, before 29,980 in Chicago on Sunday.

Don Hutson, who gets most of his headlines for pass catching, booted a field goal from the 15-yard line to save the Packers from a tie in the final seconds of their duel with the Rams.

The Chicago Cardinals surprised by chalking up their first triumph of the season and never were in danger after the first few minutes when they halted the Dodgers on the Chicago 33.

After that, with Ace Parker carried from the field with a possible brain concussion, the game was all Chicago.

GOPHERS INVADE MICHIGAN NEXT

Little Brown Jug Rivals Will Play Before 85,000 Fans

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20, (AP)—Michigan still exulted today in its sensational victory over Northwestern but saved room among all the cheers for grim thoughts of an approaching battle—the struggle next Saturday with power-laden Minnesota.

The Wolverines, now positively a serious challenger for the Big Ten football championship and high national ranking after having started the season as a question mark, began reloading for the Gophers in an effort to duplicate the mighty performance against the Wildcats.

Each unbeaten and untied, the little brown jug rivals will clash in the No. 1 game of the day before a full house of more than 85,000 fans. The huge Michigan stadium has been sold out for days for the first capacity crowd here since 1929.

Not Confident

All the rave notices greeting the Wolverines for their achievement last Saturday were balanced by acknowledgements of Gopher strength, and Coach Fritz Crisler himself was being careful to tone down the cheering section for the sake of keeping the fighting morale high.

That was a principal job for Fritz, a past master at bringing out 100 per cent effort. Observers, however, agreed that Crisler—with all respect to his eloquence—will have done something remarkable if Michigan reaches the peak it did against Northwestern.

Michigan came out of the Northwestern fracas without serious damage but may have to call on 60-minute men again next Saturday if the Gophers are to be held off. Minnesota is plentifully stocked with reserves.

Crisler's deepest frown appeared when he talked about Minnesota.

"They're big and tough," he said laconically, and let it go at that.

Above all other factors, the Northwestern game proved that Michigan could get along even without Tom Harmon. That has been the biggest worry of the Wolverine followers, whose prayers seem answered by the rugged Tom Kuzma.

COUNT ON KUZMA

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20, (AP)—Forced to show most of their ground-gaining technique to beat Northwestern, the Michigan Wolverines began work today on a batch of plays for the entertainment of Minnesota's unbeaten Gophers here Saturday.

The pass, scoring weapon of the Wolverines last week, continued to take an important place in Coach Fritz Crisler's plans.

Tom Kuzma, who pitched for both of the Wolverines' touchdowns at Evanston and thereby for the first time this season became recognized as a menacing passer, kept his throwing arm warm. The aerial practice, however, concentrated attention upon the receivers.

Kimbrough And Harmon In Game

New York, (AP)—Those darlings of the silver screen and radio, Tom Harmon and John Kimbrough, were only a couple of young fellows badly out of condition as they made their professional football debuts by helping the New York Americans gain a 7-7 tie with Columbus Bulls in an Amreican league tussle at Yankee stadium Sunday.

In fact, the two famous all-Americans of last year spent much more time sitting on the bench trying to catch their breath than they did actually earning their $1,500 honorariums out on the field. But that didn't keep them from packing 25,385 paying customers into the Yankee ball park and returning a fine dividend on the Americans' investment.

Harmon Scores Touchdown

Though neither of the big attractions played anywhere near his form in college, Kimbrough and Harmon collaborated to give the Americans their touchdown in the third period and tie the count. Alternating at toting the ball, they went 24 yards across the Bulls' goal line, with Harmon covering the last four on a reverse from Kimbrough.

WEEKLY HOMECOMING

Athens, Ga.—Georgia tackles teams coached by 10 men who are either ex-Georgia coaches or football players. Bobby Hooks tutors Mercer, which Georgia beat in its opener. Rex Enright and Ted Twomey of South Carolina were assistants under Harry Mehre at Georgia. The Gamecocks also have Charley Treadway and Frank Johnson.

In addition to Mehre, Mississippi has Catfish Smith and Weems Baskin, former assistant coach. Frank Thomas of Alabama served at Georgia as backfield coach. Sam McAllister, Florida line mentor, held the same job at Georgia.

ESKYMOS DRILL FOR STRONG FOE

Ruwitch Warns Charges That Marines Have Power Attack

"Wipe that grin off your face," Coach George Ruwitch told one of his varsity gridders in an indoor practice yesterday; "I don't want to see a grin or a smile on this squad between now and Saturday."

Ruwitch's Escanaba high school team faces its strongest test Saturday, a clash with the Marines of Marinette high school at Marinette, and the Eskymos' mentor can never be accused of not taking the game seriously.

"We were lucky to win from Marinette last year," he declared. "Coach Anderle (Harry Anderle, the Marines' mentor) saw our game at Iron Mountain last week and they will be primed for us. I've seen Marinette play and they are good. That Bilek, Marinette end, is as good as any high school end I have seen."

Rain kept the Eskymos indoors yesterday, but Ruwitch held a classroom session for his boys for the purpose of handing out assignments on play revisions, then took them into the school gym for a workout on all plays.

"Hard Work"

"There will be hard work tomorrow," Ruwitch added. He revealed he was dissatisfied with the backfield "fakes," play-timing and downfield blocking of his charges against Iron Mountain.

Ruwitch yesterday ordered Dick Bliss, halfback in one game this season and end in five others, to learn all plays for the right half's position, and the redhead may start there against Marinette. Don Jacobs, end and tackle, was instructed to master all plays for both positions.

The Escanabans came out of the I. M. game with no addition to cripples' row, although Harold St. Martin, guard, has a bruised and sore arm. There was some hope that Art Christensen, injured halfback, may return to the camp this week and provide another replacement for the depleted ball carrier's corps. Bob Dufresne is still limping around, but Don Dufresne is ready to go again.

ATTENTION, FANS

If there is a sufficient demand on the part of Escanaba fans for a section of reserved seats at the Esky-Marinette game Saturday, the requests will be granted by Marinette officials and a section set aside for local adult fans. However, Marinette must be informed how many such seats are to be reserved. Local fans wishing reserved sets should telephone 2122, Escanaba, today.

FOE TACTFUL

Prof. Elmer E. Nyberg tells his class in public speaking in the School of Commerce of New York University that there is no one in sport today who compares with Joe Louis for tactful public speaking.

"Despite the fact that Louis is called upon to do his speaking under the most difficult possible conditions—just after he has gone through a contest," says Professor Nyberg, "he has never failed to be modest in victory or failed to praise his opponent."

LIKES EBBETS

Joe DiMaggio was asked how he liked Ebbets Field, where the world series moved from Yankee Stadium.

"I wouldn't mind playing in a park like that every day," replied the New York record wrecker. "My power is to left center - field. In the Stadium, the left centerfield mark at the point of the bleachers is 415 feet. It's no picnic putting one in there."

FULLBACK HAS RHYTHM

Columbia, S. C.—Ken Roskie, junior South Carolina fullback, studied piano for five years, pipe organ for a year and adiago dancing for two years.

Short Shots on Sports

By Milton Plumb

Here is a plug for the Iron Mountain line, from tackle to tackle the best Escanaba has faced this season. The backs missed plenty of blocks and fumbles at inopportune times cost the team plenty, but Jaffola, Bacco and Hebein and mates give I. M. the middle of a good team defensively.

Surprise! That was how everyone termed Kingsford's defeat by Stambaugh, 14-7. But Geno Marana was back in the Stambaugh backfield and they say Coach Willard Anderson's team looks like a different outfit when he is carrying the mail.

Good news and bad. Marinette made 14 first downs and 398 yards from scrimmage in downing Niagara, 57-7, last weekend. All 39 members of the Marines got into action and Niagara made only four first downs . . . Why good? Because St. Joseph's high winds up its schedule against Niagara here. Why bad? Because it is another indication Escanaba high must turn on the heat in Marinette next Saturday.

One or two more victories directed by Tommy Kuzma and Michigan fans will be muttering, "Harmon?, Harmon?. Now, let's see, who did he play for?" . . . Slippery Rock Teachers were defeated Saturday, or did you notice? . . . They are beating the All-American drums for Kuzma, Oregon's left-footed and left-handed, punting and passing Curtis Mecham and Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame's 165-lbs. of tricky runner and brilliant passer. Bertelli, incidentally, is a brilliant hockey player—rejected professional offers in order to go to N. D. and is quite a baseball catcher—with his eyes set on a major league job. His hero, naturally, is Slinging Sammy Baugh, the great T. C. U. and Washington Redskins leather heaver..

At Iron Mt. last weekend . . . the Iron Mountain band is a fine musical and marching unit . . . the stands were filled . . . the cross-country run, since the boys were in the view of spectators as they (the runners, not the fans) toiled along slopes of Pine Mountain, attracted much interest . . . more than half of the I. M. players on the field declined to give the Esky football winners the traditional cheer after the game . . . "They're getting into a rut," said one I. M. fan as Grabowski completed four Escanaba passes to Gauthier in four straight plays . . . Without checking up on it, our memory reports George Shomin has kicked 19 extra points in 23 attempts.

Out of the mail . . . a copy of "Michigan's All-Time Athletic Record," a handsome little blue book containing statistics and records on all Michigan athletic teams of years gone by . . and a list of Michigan letterwinners in all sports for all times. A fine book it is, indeed . . . You old "M" men, if you pledge yourselves not to appropriate it, will find it available for examination on the Short Shotter's desk.

The partridge season closed without one sports writer we know getting a daily limit on any of his excursions afield. Three in a day was the best he could do . . . "No good, too wet," was the way people over Iron Mt. way described the upland bird hunting in that area this winter . . . Stuart Peterson, Escanaba sprinter, is a fall freshman track candidate at Michigan State, working with the squad indoors three times each week. And Bill Howe is a candidate for the freshmen tennis team at State . . . It begins to appear that hunters are in more danger on the highway, enroute to the woods, than they are while stalking wild game.

Football Notes

Columbus, O., (AP)—Ohio State played Northwestern on a luncheon table top today, with napkins and the tablecloth serving as a gridiron—as Coach Paul E. Brown of the Bucks mapped strategy with his two top scouts, Fritz Mackey and Paul Bixler.

Afterward Brown declared:

"Well, it's easy to see that Northwestern is faster than we are. With several of our boys on the hospital list, it looks like we are in for our toughest ball game Saturday—maybe too tough."

Iowa City, Ia., (AP)—The University of Iowa Hawkeyes, none too happy with themselves over the 23 to 0 drubbing they took from Wisconsin, spent their football practice looking at motion pictures of the game today. Warming up for the forthcoming conference tilt with Purdue, Dr. Eddie Anderson showed the squad pictures of last year's game and warned it about the offensive ability of John Petty, big Boilermaker fullback.

Madison, Wis., (AP)—Wisconsin went through a curtailed drill today, but the Badgers, pepped up by their 23 to 0 victory over Iowa, are in for heavy sessions the rest of the week for the homecoming game against Indiana Saturday. Coach Harry Stuhldreher said he felt the squad had gained some much needed confidence by spilling the Hawkeyes.

Evanston, Ill., (AP)—The Northwestern Wildcats returned to the drill field today for a lesson in pass defense and ball handling, weaknesses which cost the team a decision against Michigan last Saturday.

Head Coach Lynn Waldorf, however, did not censure his boys too severely as they prepared for the Ohio State test.

Champaign, Ill., (AP)—Quarterback Lavere Astroth and fullback Myron Pfeifer, who missed the Illinois rout of Drake Saturday because of injuries, rejoined the squad today as preparations began for the Notre Dame engagement.

Lafayette, Ind., (AP)—Purdue university's football players were lauded by Coach Albert H. (Mal) Elward today for their showing last Saturday at Ohio State, which beat them 16 to 14, but warned against Iowa, which they will meet in a homecoming game next week-end.

Bloomington, Ind., (AP)—Trainers reported today junior right halfback Dale Swihart of the Indiana university football team suffered a shoulder injury in last Saturday's Nebraska game which might keep him out of action the rest of the season. Chuck Jacoby, sophomore right halfback, wrenched an ankle, but is expected to be recovered in time to play at Wisconsin next week-end.

South Bend, Ind., (AP)—Football Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, disappointed with the line play in the 16 to 0 victory over Carnegie Tech last Saturday, put his squad through its first Monday scrimmage of the season to polish up a running attack for next Saturday's game with Illinois.

Minneapolis, Oct. 20, (AP)—Monday's usual day of rest for the Minnesota football squad turned into an hour and a half drill as threatening weather forced the first two teams inside.

Bill Daley was limping, he injured his left ankle in the second half of the Pitt game, but it wasn't thought serious. Today he was still limping, and it may hinder him in the Michigan game.

The fieldhouse drill concentrated on pass plays which the Gophers will unfurl against the Wolverines, plus a short spell on off tackle smashes.

Athletics Tie Can To Pitcher Hadley

Philadelphia, Oct. 20, (AP)—Irving "Bump" Hadley, veteran right-handed pitcher, and rookie catcher Johnny Leovich, former Oregon State college athlete, were released outright by the Athletics today.

Manager Connie Mack said he wanted to give both ample opportunity to make other connections.

Escanaba Team Rates 'No. 1' U.P. Eleven

The Upper Peninsula's teams undefeated and untied in U. P. gridiron warfare declined to three in number last weekend—Escanaba, Houghton and Bessemer.

Gladstone's hopes for a claim against the mythical title went by the board Saturday, Ishpeming emerging with a surprise 6-0 decision. L'Anse previously undefeated and untied, bowed to Houghton, 20-2. Bessemer stepped outside the U. P. to defeat Hurley, 7-0.

Eskys Rate No. 1

Even if Houghton and Bessemer finish the U. P. gridiron grind with unblemished records, and the odds are that they will just as Escanaba will rule a heavy favorite over Gladstone in those teams' annual battle here Nov. 11, most U. P. fans will call the Eskymos peninsula champions. Escanaba, undefeated since early in the 1938 season and victorious in its last 26 games, this year waded through to date this season a schedule far more difficult than those faced by Houghton and Bessemer.

In winning the first six games on their '41 schedule the Eskymos pushed over 196 points (35 of them against Iron Mountain last Saturday) and their opponents only six points. Defensively, it begins to appear that the present Escanaba varsity could challenge the record of the 1939 Escanaba team which blanked all opponents in an eight-game schedule.

Leading Scorers

Captain George Shomin and Clarence Grabowski accounted for 127 of those counters. Shomin caught eight touchdown passes, (including one hurled by Frickleton of Iron Mountain and intercepted by the Esky captain) for 48 points and added 19 extra points from placement after touchdowns—a total of 67 points. Grabowski, whose speciality is free-wheeling it off tackle and around end, has 10 touchdowns to his credit, 60 points, although kept out of one game by injury.

From both angles, offense and defense, Escanaba has the U. P's leading eleven.

Other Grid Aces

But Shomin and Grabowski are not alone in their individual performances warranting consideration for All-U. P. berths. Quarterback Ed Gauthier is the "man behind the gun," with his punt returns, field generalship and passes to Shomin. Seven of those touchdown passes to Shomin were hurled by the black-haired Escanaba signal caller.

Coaches and sports writers in many U. P. cities have called Don Jacobs, Escanaba tackle, Shomin's equal in line play and the Escanaba play-buster on the right side of the line is assured of votes for all-peninsula. Shomin, listed as a tackle although he plays at end much of the time his team is on offense, is labeled by most opposition as an end. Jacobs, while he has filled in at guard and end when injuries crippled the team, is primarily a tackle and a brilliant one on defense.

Center Ed Breault and guards John and Harold St. Martin continued their fine play against Iron Mountain last weekend. Dick Bliss, versatile end who appeared at halfback while Grabowski was injured earlier in the season, got into plenty of action against the Mountaineers, but Bill Baum, the other starting end, was bothered by a leg injury and saw most of the game from the sidelines. Bobby Boyle and Billy Anderson, little Escanaba relief backs, played steady ball in a large part of the contest.

SAINTS PREPARE FOR GLADSTONE

Parochials Seeking 4th Straight Triumph Here Saturday

Their ledger showing a profitable balance for the first time since the fall football grind began, the Saints of St. Joseph's high school yesterday leveled their eyes on a highly respected foe, Gladstone, and a clash on the high school field here Saturday.

While the Saints will enter that contest on nothing better than even terms in the forecasts, and possibly in the role of underdogs, they saw in Gladstone's 6-0 defeat at the hands of Ishpeming last week-end a fine chance for the St. Joe colors to wave triumphantly next Saturday. And Coach Carl Kant likes the short end of things for his charges; they operate more effectively against a strong foe than a weak opponent.

Center Injured

Elmer Bonifas, center, came out of the Parochials' victory over Crystal Falls with an ailing knee which may keep him on the sidelines much of this week. However, Clint Marenger, a standout performer at tackle all season, is back in camp, and "Blackie" Villeuve is on hand to take Bonifas' place at center.

The Catholics lost their first two games, then won three straight. So Kant has hopes for consecutive victories over Gladstone and Niagara, Wis., which would give his pupils a record of five wins in seven starts this semester.

Reserves to Play

Kant, his boys working indoors yesterday, released his varsity after calisthenics, then worked with his reserves. The latter have games scheduled with Gladstone and Escanaba yannigans.

No Tickets Remain For Minnesota Game

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20 (AP)—A harrassed University of Michigan ticket manager wiped a perspiring brow today amid the greatest demand for tickets he has ever seen in 22 years on the job.

It's all because of the Michigan-Minnesota game here Saturday for which pasteboards are no longer available.

As a battery of telephones tinkled constantly, Harry Tillotson's reply was the same, "I'm sorry, we're all sold out."

That means 85,793 rabid gridiron followers, expecting a battle royal in the nation's No. 1 game, will jam the huge stadium to capacity to see the collision of the two football behemoths.

"I never thought I had so many friends," said Tillotson. "We could sell 25,000 more tickets."

Scalpers are expected to do a booming business on the day of the game.

Meanwhile, extra details of police had to be called out today as hundreds of undergraduates jammed the athletic office as the distribution of student tickets began. One girl fainted in the crush. Usually, students do not exchange coupons for tickets until a day or so before a game.

OFFICIALS HURT

New York, Oct. 21, (AP)—There are more ways than you'd imagine of getting hurt in a football game, as C. W. Rupp and Red Friesell, National Football league officials, will testify.

Friesell broke a leg early in the season while officiating in a Philadelphia-Brooklyn game and Sunday at the Polo Grounds, Rupp shot himself. Rupp, who hails from Akron, Ohio, fired the gun ending the first period of the Pittsburgh-New York game. Then the gun went off accidentaly a second time, wounding the umpire in the left hand.

Bald eagles have been known to retreat at the attack of the plucky kingbird.

Huge Quantities Of Aluminum Seen Available After The War

BY CARTER FIELD

Carter Field

Washington—One of the revolutions in American industry almost certain to follow the end of the war is involved in the enormous expansion of aluminum production. This light, but strong metal will be available in quantities never before dreamed of, and at prices on which engineers have never thought of figuring.

Just before this country started its "priorities" and began curbing production of articles not required for national defense there had been a considerable building of "streamliner" trains. Some of these were built of aluminum, more of stainless steel. The essential desire of the engineers in each case, after streamlining to cut down wind resistance, was to cut down the weight, so as to insure quicker starts and hence lower running time.

In a way this was following the diatribe which Henry Ford handed the railroad industry some fifteen years ago when he acquired a railroad, and announced that he was going to show up the absurdity of pulling such heavy cars.

But the point is that the engineers recently had turned to stainless steel because aluminum was so expensive. With aluminum selling at a very low price, and no more terrific pressure for turning out large numbers of airplanes, aluminum naturally will be pushing other material in commercial competition. There will be more aluminum than ordinary needs would provide a demand for, and hence aluminum MUST find additional markets.

At the low price which will then be possible, it is unthinkable that this will not provide a revolution in our railway trains, and in doing so provide a lot of the employment which will be so vitally needed when the war is over, and the demand for more shells, tanks, planes and guns suddenly ends.

In the case of airplanes it is not likely that there can be any such expansion of commercial use as to keep busy all the plants now producing planes and those that will be in production before the war ends. War means not only USE of airplanes, but wholesale DESTRUCTION of airplanes. Planes are destroyed in peace times, but only in accidents. In war, too, there must be a huge number of trainer planes, capable of providing an education in flying to thousands of young aviators who must replace aviators killed or captured.

Jobs Must Be Found

So it is safe to figure that airplane production must be cut, perhaps one-half, perhaps one-third, perhaps three-quarters. That is why the tremendous aluminum production we will have when peace comes MUST find other uses. But there will be no such cessation of employment in the airplane industry as that which will occur at plants making tanks, guns and shells.

It is the men working in such plants who must be provided with jobs. Not to mention the returning soldiers.

Many Natural Wonders Have Devil As Namesake

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C. — Devil's Tower in Wyoming, which recently figured so prominently in the news when a daring parachutist decided to land on it in order to win a bet, is a reminder that throughout the country there are many natural wonders that have the word devil attached to their names. It is also a reminder that despite the marked advances in science the mystery of many of these places remains unsolved.

It is a curious thing, and one which most theologians would probably refrain from discussing, that when a man comes in contact with a monstrosity of nature which he cannot understand the name of the Deity is never applied. If it is a place of beauty, has charm and some utilitarian value, some name is usually applied which carries with it a pleasant thought. This would seem to imply that of the two places generally recognized for man's existence after death, the one presided over by the devil is the more mysterious.

Search the world over and wherever there is a gruesome, dangerous or mysterious place, the name devil is frequently applied. So many are these places in the United States that in not a few instances the name of the local post office is coupled with the word devil. Devil's Lake, North Dakota, is not an isolated instance, for the United States Postal Guide reveals a surprisingly large number of post offices bearing names connected with his satanic majesty.

Some of these mysterious places have so baffled geologists, other scientists and historians that no definite conclusion has been reached as to their existence. For example, there is in Chatham County, North Carolina, what is known as the Devil's Tramping Ground. The place is a circle approximately 100 feet in circumference. The path which forms the circle is about two feet wide, tall grass growing within and without the circle but the path itself is completely bare. The spectacle has the appearance of where a threshing machine has been stationed and operated by horsepower, the horses going around in a circle to give power to the shaft which is connected with the threshing machine. Old-timers say the place has been there as long as they can recall, and no one has ever presented a plausible theory for the mysterious circle and why grass will grow on both sides of the path which forms it but not in the path.

But one of the most mysterious natural wonders, if not the devil of them all, in the United States is the Devil's Post Pile, situated in the heart of the stupendous Sierra Nevada mountain range a few hundred miles from Los Angeles. For hundreds, if not thousands, of years this phenomenon has puzzled geologists and other scientists.

The Devil's Post Pile, which is composed of basaltic rock, is set on an elevation some 7,500 feet above sea level and is itself a pygmy compared with the titantic heights about it. This curiously attractive and impressive natural wonder is a mile or more long, about half as wide, and about 400 feet high. It is not everywhere in evidence, cropping up only in places. The most striking columns constitute more than 1,000 feet of its western face. They rise about 100 feet above the slope, a vast heap of broken posts accumulated through the never-ceasing battering of the cliff by nature's processes. How far downward they extend is not known, that being the arch mystery of the whole formation.

The columns of this amazing bluff are arranged in rows as regularly as the pipes of a cathedral organ. Almost perfect prisms, they are fitted together like cells in a honeycomb, and look as if carved by human hand. The ends are polished to a gloss by grinding glacial motion and may be compared with a parqueted floor. The mosaic effect is startling.

An Eighth Wonder

Most of these columns range from fourteen inches to more than three feet in diameter, and the majority of them are pentagonal, whereas elsewhere in the mysterious range the general shape is hexagonal. The Devil's Post Pile affords a strange deviation in this respect, some of its immense columns being eight-sided, many seven-sided and the remainder hexagons. In one extensive section they are as straight as sawed timbers and are perpendicular. In another they lean and are gracefully curved.

For many years the handsomest of all columns, tall and symmetrically tapered, were separated from the body and stood upright and alone, forming an ideal symbol of complete independence. In time these crumbled, a process which has been going on perhaps for several thousand years. But since it seems likely that it will take another thousand or more years for complete deterioration, there is time enough for most people to see this basaltic marvel in the wilds of California.

This eighth wonder of the world is located in a region where nature everywhere is a marvel. The whole is a forest of pine, tamarack, fir and other sturdy trees, which cover even the post pile where the basalt is not actually bare. Wildflowers carpet meadows, and when a spectator stands in the midst of this almost indescribable sight he has full opportunity to behold other wonders of nature.

Among a man's big jobs on earth is that of understanding himself and the wonders of nature about him. He has made some headway in both, but he seems yet to have far to go in solving the mystery of the devil's namesakes.

Demand For Horses Increased By War

Washington, D. C.—Demand for horses to be used in war has checked, to some extent, the rapid decline of this animal's numerical strength in the United States. With the turn of the century when the automobile became a certainty the number of horses on farms and in cities in this country decreased almost in the same ratio as the motorcar increased in popularity and service.

The sharpest decline in the number of horses on farms has taken place since 1913, for then there was a total of approximately 22,000,000. By 1925 the number had dropped to 17,589,000, and last year census enumerators found only 10,364,000 mules and horses on American farms. City statistics show an even greater decline. From the high point in 1910, when there were close to 3,500,000 city horses and mules, the total fell to about 2,100,000 in 1930, and most of these have since disappeared.

The present demand for more horses is the third since the decline of the use of the horse around 1900. The first of these demands came during the first World War when so many fine horses were needed for the United States and European cavalries. The second demand came in the midst of the recent depression when it was cheaper to buy a horse than a tractor for farm use, and so many people uprooted from their jobs in industry turned to small-type farming. The third demand came when the nations of Europe became engaged in the present conflict.

Nearly one-sixth of Poland's battle force consisted of horsemen. The French cavalry had about eight times as many cavalry regiments on horseback as on machines. The British, on the other hand, started out with mechanized cavalry outnumbering horsemen more than three to one. The greatest demand for horses in the United States in the prosecution of war came during the Civil War when the requirement reached a peak of 500 per day.

But while wars increase the demand for horses, there is a hesitancy among breeders to proceed very far, for they do not know when the demand may abruptly cease. This is avoided to some extent by future contracts, but even then a contract with a nation today may be worthless tomorrow, for the contracting nation may soon be in the hands of an enemy.

While the present demand in Europe for horses bred in the United States is great, it has not reached such proportions as it did between 1914 and 1918 when this country shipped overseas more than 950,000 horses and 345,000 mules to be used in warfare. The extended use in recent years of mechanized equipment in warfare has lessened the use for horses.

Civilization has ever been built about the use of the horse, and throughout history this animal has played an important part in times of war, both in peaceful and war pursuits. And while it seems strange to a degree, a horse long used in warfare invariably knows when a battle is impending. History is filled with such tales, and the biography of more than one general would not be complete if the service and bravery of his faithful steed were omitted.

Stocks Selling Below Book Values - Babson

BY ROGER W. BABSON

New York City—There are half a dozen simple rules which every investor should consider when buying stocks. These are:

(1) Prefer companies without debt or embarrassing preferred issues.

(2) Prefer companies with natural resources, real property, or marketable equities.

(3) Prefer companies with goodwill, trademarks, and assets which are difficult to duplicate.

(4) Prefer companies which cater to consumers and enjoy a "repeat" business.

(5) Prefer companies whose issues are selling for not in excess of their book value.

(6) Prefer companies with a satisfactory earnings record.

(7) Be sure that directors and officials are men of high character, sound judgment, with a personal financial interest in the company.

Secretary Morgenthau's Theories

Most readers know that the market had quite a break following the recent statement of Secretary Morgenthau regarding taking away all earnings of a company in excess of 6 per cent. If he would guarantee 6 per cent to all legitimate companies, or even guarantee the continuance of what they are earning up to 6 per cent, this would be something to discuss. To say, however, that a businessman should take all losses on existing and new enterprises and then have the profits on the one that does make good limited to 6 per cent on the capital invested is, of course, fundamentally unsound. This was the argument first used by the Russian radicals in bringing about Communism and later by Hitler and his crowd in bring about Naziism.

I do not for a minute fear that Congress will adopt any such crazy legislation. It would be much harder on small businesses than on large businesses and be the end of new enterprises. This, I have already stated through these columns. It, however, should be recognized that the Treasury Department is thinking along these lines. The Good Book says, "as a man thinketh in his heart so is he." This means that it is not what we accomplish so much as it is what we think. It is much better to think good thoughts and fail temporarily than to think wrongly and temporarily succeed. Hence, this week's message.

Investors Can Buy Insurance

Investors who have their money in companies which are seeing their employees ruthlessly "organized" by the CIO come to me in great distress. They attempt to show me that after companies are organized by labor leaders into closed shops they never again earn what they did when there was free bargaining between the employer and the wage workers. They also insist that it is not primarily a question of wage raises, but rather of discipline and efficiency. They claim that under a closed shop the labor leaders really rule and the efficiency greatly declines.

I tell these investors to quit their worry, give up struggling against the inevitable and gradually shift their holdings into something which will profit by this labor union move. For instance, when wages are advancing and working hours reduced, wage workers' families spend much more in the local stores. Hence, I advise selling the stock in the XYZ Manufacturing Company and buying the stock in the leading grocery store corporation which is feeding the neighborhood of the XYZ Manufacturing Company. Also some shares in the leading department stores of that community may be a purchase. Investors who have taken such advice have come out satisfactorily.

Studying Book Values

Cannot the same principle be used in connection with Mr. Morgenthau's threat of allowing only 6 per cent on book values? For instance, I understand that the book value of Standard Oil of Ohio is around $65 a share, while this stock is selling at only about 40. If the Government should allow 6 per cent on this $65 before any radical excess profit taxes, then certainly the investor has nothing to fear from a 6 per cent ceiling. Other reported illustrations are American Woolen Preferred with a book value of over $160 selling at about 74, and Mack Truck with a book value of over $60 selling at around 30. I am not recommending these stocks, but I do insist that if you hold these and certain other stocks, Mr. Morgenthau should not worry you.

I prefer not to give illustrations of those stocks whose book value is less than current prices, but will give you this tip: Among such will be found the stocks of certain automobile, tobacco, airplane, soft drink, and patent medicine companies. Companies that have spent large sums in building up tradenames very often suffer by having a low book value. This is not necessarily a criticism of these companies.

Conclusion

This column appears in nearly 400 papers with a circulation of several million readers. Yet, I receive very few complaints about what I say, but I am burdened with complaints about the Government, about taxes, about Wall Street, about big business and small business. The American people have a complex on complaints. Too may are fearful for security, income, jobs, politics, war, etc. Yet the fun of life is in the striving; not in the arriving. Therefore, the message this week is not concerning Mr. Morgenthau's 6 per cent tirade;—but rather I am using this as an illustration of the message "let us overcome our obstacles instead of fretting about them."

P. S. One good piece of news comes to my desk as I am dictating this column. There will be lots of turkeys for the holidays. Over 35,000,000 birds have been raised this year, beating the world's record, with an average weight of one-half pound more than a year ago. Therefore, we can all have a happy Thanksgiving.

LEGISLATIVE DEATHS

Thirty-four legislators of the United States died during the two-year period between 1938 and 1940: six were senators and 28 were representatives.

Whether you own a Packard or a Ford you are vitally interested in securing maximum motor performance with least expense.

If there was a known method of securing maximum performance, which would indirectly cost you nothing due to gasoline economy, you would be interested, wouldn't you?

Motor performance depends upon proper valve action. Past methods of attempted valve correction have proven inadequate. We employ The Kwik-Way System. It is a modern, scientific method which recognizes the fundamental principles of valve action and its relationship to motor performance. It is regarded by leading automotive engineers as The Only Correct Method Of Servicing Motor Valves. It stops compression leaks and releases power previously hidden behind such leaks. The increased performance is amazing!

Come in—see the measured accuracy of our valve correction operations. It means money to you!
